Declared safe

In an independent report prepared for the Michigan Community Newspapers, the Environmental Disposal System (EDS) Inc. disposal well was deemed safe for the community. EDS has built a well approximately 4,477 feet below ground level for the purpose of injecting hazardous and non-hazardous wastes in Romulus. (see story B-6) MCN Special Photo

Councilmen stalk out of city meeting

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Angry shout overs, walkouts by three of the six councilmen present and a vow by Councilman Randolph Gear not to stop chairing Monday night's meeting unless Police Chief Daryl Poe arrested him, were just some of the incidents that sparked the emotional pre-election council session.

Later write-in council candidate Robert McLachlan and Romulus American Legion commander Ted Bouzounis got into a shouting match over tonight's planned Candidates' Night session, with McLachlan later threatening to sue both Bouzounis and the local legion post for blocking his chance to speak there.

McLachlan, who first was verbally invited to the candidates' night later was informed he was not welcome. The legion commander said he found out there were six or seven other write-in candidates, but failed to identify them.

A check later with City Clerk Linda Choate showed that no other write-in possibilities have alerted her of their campaign plans.

Choate admitted however that write-in candidates need not inform her.

Semi-routine procedures were returned about a half hour after the walkout by Councilmen Ellis Pennington, Jimmie Raspberry and Noah "Pete" Bergeron, when Bergeron returned to give the council a quorum once again.

"I only came back because I felt I had a responsibility to vote on the warrants, so that city employees could be paid on schedule," Bergeron said after the meeting.

Bergeron then blasted Gear, who was sitting in as Mayor pro tem in the absence of the ailing Mary Ann Banks.

"Raspberry as a councilman has a right to challenge Gear as a chairman. With Gear refusing to acknowledge that fact the meeting went totally out of control," Bergeron said.

Earlier Councilman William Wadsworth verbally chastised the "staged" walkouts by the three councilmen, calling it an "embarrassment" to the city.

Stating the action was a "total disgrace", Wadsworth turned up the political barometer a bit, when he said the three councilmen who remained at the meeting (himself, Gear and Michael Prybyla) are the three who continually have fought the injection well and deserved voter support.

Councilman Pete Bergeron

The three remaining councilmen tried to link the walkout to the dispute over the injection well, but even Mayor Beverly McAnally clarified that.

"No I think it was the argument over McAnally Boulevard," she told the gathering.

Later Wadsworth thanked Bergeron both publicly and privately for returning to the council chambers.

Prior to the outburst and the walkouts, Raspberry was asking Community Development Director Jane Downing about the Metro World development and the so-called McAnally Boulevard, which some have called the "road to nowhere!"

Raspberry asked who was this road to be named for, "any McAnally we know?" The mayor smiled and raised her hand, but admitted it was a name on paper only.

Bergeron then chimed in, "After many years, I finally saw some signs of development at the planned Metro World site."

Then continuing in a chiding fashion, Bergeron quipped, "Thankfully the signs said 'For Sale'."

The council has been arguing in recent years, and even more emphatically during this campaign, about the money the city has spent improving the development site.

Even Downing quoted the new theme, "the city will not

McAnally, Oakley vye for mayor

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

City finances, the injection well, the so-called McAnally Boulevard and the mayoralty candidates' own campaign styles are leading the 1995 issue parade as the Nov. 7 Election Day comes racing forward.

Having just finished a door-to-door campaign in many city neighborhoods, former Mayor William Oakley said his spirits have been lifted by the public's call for a change in governmental leaders.

Mayor Beverly McAnally on the other hand feels her campaign has recaptured the vision she has given city government in the past decade and she is thankful for the expressed support her effort has gained.

Oakley strongly attacks McAnally heavy emphasis on Tax Increment Finance Authority programs, which he claims has not been good for the city. "TIFA's encourage the government to go in debt—roughly to the tune of $40 million today," Oakley charges.

He also criticizes the fact that McAnally uses part of the local TIFA funds to pay the salary of Community Development Director Jane Downing, a practice he condemns.

Then looking back at the last year he was mayor in the early 1980's, Oakley said the overall city debt obligation was about $78 per person, where today he says it is $475 per person.

McAnally doesn't remember such a rosy picture, she claims that when Oakley was mayor "businesses were leaving the city in droves and that Wick Road looked like it had been bombed."

Both candidates say they are opposed to the projected injection well. McAnally and the City Council have spent over $500,000 in fighting the well's operation.

Oakley said he feels if he had been mayor there would be no well in Romulus and thus no long legal battle. "While I make no promises on the well issue, I will discuss the legal status of the well with the city attorneys, who have handled this case, and then direct action that is in the best interest of the city," Oakley said.

McAnally points with pride to industries that have come into Romulus during her tenure here, while Oakley chides her staff for "not understanding their responsibilities toward developers" and thus have cost the city taxpayers thousands of dollars in revenue.

Oakley said Romulus was on the verge of bankruptcy when he took office in 1977 and it had $2.5 million in fund balances when he left office six years later. And all of this occurred while the Midwestern states were going through extremely tough economic times, he said.

Top McAnally financial leaders armed with the latest audit state that the city is in a healthy financial position, despite claims by pro-injection well forces that the city is deep in the red.

Oakley also struck out at McAnally's participation in a mile paving of Wayne Road after 95 percent of the homes were demolished, while not acting promptly on a critical (LeRoy) road problem two miles away.

"And then to quiet these neighbors in the Meadows Subdivision agree to use water and sewer funds to reconstruct such roads shortly before election day," Oakley said.

McAnally points to the many miles of roads her administration has improved or created and stresses the need for a five-year on-going road program.

As for the disputed McAnally Boulevard, McAnally said it is a name on a development paper only. "It was recommended by the developer and I was complimented by the proposal," she said Monday night.

Pair face murder trial

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Murder charges in the much delayed pre-trial hearing against a Romulus man and his New Boston friend were bound over to the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice on Tuesday by Woodhaven 33rd District Court Judge Donald Swank.

Brownstown police presented their case Tuesday against Jerry A. Metcalf Jr., 20, of Romulus and Jonathan D. Sylvester, 20, of New Boston, before Judge Swank, including a statement given to police by Sylvester.

The hearing was delayed twice, once while authorities were awaiting ballistic test results and later because of a death in the judge's family.

Police charge that Metcalf shot and killed Russell A. Danko, 21, of Southgate, on Sept. 16 after he refused to join them in a trip back to a Southgate bar, where they had been in an argument earlier with Metcalf's father.

Metcalf used a small handgun to fire four shots at Danko, one which penetrated his heavy jacket and back. The victim reportedly bled to death, police said.

DIGEST

Former writer

reported ill

Retired long time writer for the Romulus Roman Pearl Morris reportedly is ill and has been hospitalized.

Family members say that she would enjoy cards and notes from any of her long time readers.

Address cards to Pearl M. Morris, 13880 Huron River Dr., Romulus, MI. 48174.

City inaugural slated Nov. 13

The city's soon to be elected officials will be sworn in by 34th District Court Judge Tina Brooks Green at the 13th inaugural ceremony at 11:30 a.m. Nov. 13 in the City Council Chambers.

The election will be conducted on Nov. 7 and will pit incumbent Mayor Beverly McAnally against former Mayor William Oakley and 15 council candidates for seven seats.

Two city incumbents are all but guaranteed new terms since they are running unopposed. They are City Clerk Linda Choate and Treasurer James Napiorkowski.

County Commissioner Bruce Patterson reportedly will be on hand to help with the festivities and a musical group from Romulus High School will be there to entertain.

Reportedly three local church pastors will be on hand to participate in the ceremony.

Pressler named to downtown unit

Robert Pressler has been named to the Downtown Development Authority's Board of Directors following the resignation of local businessman Anthony Kopas.

Kopas is moving to Tecumseh, but reportedly will continue his hardware business in downtown Romulus.

Pennington was the first councilman to say he was going to leave claiming that Gear was not following Roberts' Rules of Order. He told Gear "the chair has been challenged, I urge that Mr. Wadsworth fill in the chairmanship during the challenge."

Gear refused, claiming it was an election time ploy by Raspberry and Pennington. Raspberry and Bergeron picked up their City Hall packets and marched out of the chambers right behind Pennington.

On Tuesday morning, Gear said upon returning home after the council meeting, he found almost a score of comments on his answering machine from cable viewers stating they felt the mayor should have been allowed to finish her consent agenda report rather than being interrupted by Raspberry.

"Mayor McAnally was giving her report, thus I did not recognize Mr. Raspberry," Gear stated.

"Our residents deserve better treatment than they got on Monday night," Gear continued. "I feel this incident was orchestrated by those who disrupted the meeting."

Gear added his thanks to Bergeron for returning to the council session so that some of the financial and ordinance votes needed could be completed in a timely fashion."

Raspberry on Tuesday also stated that Romulus City Attorneys Barry Seifman and Mark Jacobs came to City Hall at 6 p.m. (prior to the regular council meeting) to be involved in an executive session with the city council on legal matters.

But the meeting never got started, Raspberry said, because only he, Pennington and Bergeron appeared. Missing from that session, he said, were Gear, Wadsworth and Michael Prybyla.

Raspberry claimed the city attorneys were disappointed the meeting never took place.

Romak urging bigger voter turn out

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Political newcomer Deborah Romak, who surprised many with her second place finish in the recent council primary, vows her biggest interest in the Nov. 7 election is to get out a much larger voter count this year.

Romak, best known as being the official spokesperson for Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP), said Monday that with up to 15,000 potential registered voters, the city needs to hike the voter count to more than the expected 3,000-3,500 next month.

Romak, a 40-year-old mother of two, first became a political activist several years ago, when the commercial injection well issue initially grew in controversy.

She has appeared at almost every City Council session since 1993 and very often speaks out on the well issue, as well as her new political ties with County Commissioner Bruce Patterson and Congresswoman Lynn Rivers.

Romak and other RECAP members have continually supported the drive by Mayor Beverly McAnally and anti-well council persons, who have spent about a half million dollars in legal fees to fight the well's operation.

Deborah Romak

She also has openly taken on three incumbent councilmen, who favor a negotiated settlement on the well issue.

Romak and other RECAP members earned an environmental award from SEMCOSH (an environmental group) in 1995.

Her opposition to the well project obviously is one of the top campaign issues in her drive to earn a seat on the council. She states bluntly "no man, woman or child should have to live within 500 yards of a commercial injection well."

Romak also feels that the citizens of Romulus have the right to have an advisory referendum on issues such as casinos, even though such votes are not binding on local councilmen.

The 1972 Romulus High School graduate would also like to see the city institute a town meeting concept every three months, to allow the public to air its opinions before the council on a regular basis.

On other issues, Romak said, as long as we have Metro Airport, the city will face hurdles (since the airport geographically divides the city).

"But we need to push the desirability of living and working in Romulus and work to add as many homes as possible," she said.

"We need to add additional commercial businesses in Romulus, so that citizens can spend their dollars in their own home town," Romak continued.

Romak was employed as an American Airlines Sky Chef for 10 years and more recently was a part-time hall monitor for Romulus Schools.

She was a past vice president of the Barth Parent Teacher Council and a member of the city's Compensation Review Board, Mayor's Drug Task Force and the Citizens Advisory Group for Commissioner Bruce Patterson.

Romak, who has been actively campaigning since this summer, said she hopes to gain the endorsement of the AFL-CIO and Teamsters labor unions.

Sibert stresses

needs of teenagers

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Second time City Council Candidate Gwen Sibert, long an advocate for additional youth programming in Romulus, continues to press for a recreational site for youth and senior citizens.

"Our children may only be 20 percent of the population, but they are 100 percent of our future," she exclaims.

Sibert, a 44-year-old single parent of two children, complains "we allow huge tax abatements for all types of industries and yet we don't have a quality recreational center."

"If we want to lower our crime problem (particular youth crime) we need to give them some positive experiences on the basketball courts, workout rooms or even some day a swimming pool," Sibert said.

"We also need another black officer in the police department to specialize in youth issues," Sibert said.

At this point only one black officer serves in the local department.

She then asks, "What would be the most painless way to fund such a recreational facility? Why by asking these corporations both large and small to kick in on the cost of such a building?"

Currently a Romulus cable commissioner, Sibert has worked as a television-radio host for 11 years and now is involved with Weight Watchers organization and claims she was recently named their top salesperson in the U.S.

"I recently negotiated a contract for over $300,000, the largest in the company's history," she said.

While serving on the cable commission, Sibert said, she has been working to help the Romulus School District develop television coverage of their meetings. She also would strive to secure youth related cable shows, call-in programs for citizens wishing to know more about their government's operations and coverage of various key city governmental meetings.

Sibert said she has received numerous awards for her actions on behalf of the Post Polio Coalition, Focus Hope, Wee Care About Others, Mother Waddles and a Romulus-based youth group known as PEACE.

Sibert has also been active in the battle to keep the injection well from opening in Romulus and is asking city officials for full disclosure on what efforts have been made in the legal battle to date.

While she has used Detroit Councilman Clyde Cleveland as a campaign manager, Sibert states, she makes the final decisions in the race. "I'm not a rubber stamp, I am and always have been my own person, but I'm willing to listen to others views."

She feels surcharges are the best opportunities for Romulus, when it comes to dealing with Metro Airport.

Such money could someday help Romulus develop a full time Fire Department.

Gear proud of anti-well record

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Veteran City Councilman Randolph Gear, who won his first election in 1987 by only eight votes, came full cycle and finished first this summer in the 1995 council primary.

Gear, who in recent weeks has served as mayor pro tem due to the illness of Mary Ann Banks, feels his strength in governmental circles is his ability to work with residents and leaders of all races and cultural backgrounds.

The 44-year-old Detroit School District art teacher has been active with the Wayne County Youth Assistance program, local American Legion, Phi Delta Kappa, Alpha Phi and Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP) groups.

Gear is proud of his role as one of the early opponents to the injection well. "I based most of my concern on what happened at the Love Canal," Gear said, "and remain totally against any toxic waste disposal in Romulus."

Gear said he is interested in working out some type of cooperative program with Metro Airport and Wayne County, so that Romulus can get its fair share of airport revenue.

Councilman Randy Gear

"We also need to force the airport into living up to its promises on both soundproofing local homes against airplane noise as well as purchasing citizens properties that are in the path of airport growth."

The job growth potential at the airport, Gear admits, adds to the number of persons who possibly may relocate their homes in Romulus.

Housing starts remain critical for Romulus' future, he said, as most developers say Romulus needs to grow to about 60,000 persons if it wishes to attract any major shopping mall. Today there are only about 22,000 persons living in Romulus, he said.

Gear has considerable praise for incumbent Mayor Beverly McAnally and Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks. "McAnally has helped provide substantial growth in Romulus in recent years. In addition, Mary has been quite an inspiration to me during my years on the council," he said.

"I'm quite confident that Brooker Edwards also will win the seventh spot on the council this November," Gear said. Edwards finished a scant two votes behind incumbent Jimmie Raspberry in the primary.

Gear expresses pride in the city's services stating the Department of Public Works needs to be commended for their efforts in both the summer and the snowy days of winter.

Gear graduated from Romulus High School in 1969 and from Washtenaw Community College in 1971. He earned his master's in education from the University of Michigan in 1973 and is currently working on a doctoral degree in administration at Wayne State University.

He was named Teacher of the Year in Detroit in 1987, as well as in Wayne County and the State of Michigan the same year.

Kreft: keeping taxes low is vital

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

New Romulus Zoning Board of Appeals Chairman Stanley D. Kreft, the most outspoken member of the zoning board during the past environmental well hearings, is now pressing the flesh to help earn a seat on the City Council next month.

Kreft, 56, who is best known for his very pointed questions on the Environmental Disposal Systems applications, was named the board chairman earlier this year following the surprise retirement of Norm McLenen.

The rookie council candidate said he took a very strong stance on the well issue, because he felt EDS completely ignored the city's zoning and environmental boards when it first sought to begin non-hazardous well operations on the property off Wahrman Road.

Kreft said keeping the city's taxes the second lowest in Wayne County also will be one of his continuous goals. He feels that can be accomplished if the city continues to spend funds wisely and if it sets up a long-term road improvement program.

Kreft said the city needs to keep the pressure on Wayne County leaders, who control property inside Romulus borders. "We successfully fought Wayne County on land they controlled that was taken off the city tax rolls in the past. After we won the right to tax unused property under the jurisdiction of Wayne County, the county placed the property on the market," Kreft continued.

"Now it has been sold and will soon contain an 18-hole golf course and acres and acres of single family homes," Kreft stated.

If elected on Nov. 7, Kreft promises to provide honest representation that "will be based on current city ordinances tempered with common sense."

Kreft joined the growing number of candidates this year, who support an advisory referendum on controversial proposals such as casino gambling.

Kreft has lived in Romulus over 31 years, resided in Huron Township before that.

He was in the U.S. Navy for 14 years, including a decade in the Naval Reserves. He was named Sailor of the Year and earned many certificates for advanced study while in the Naval service.

In addition to his years on the ZBA and Environmental Protection boards, who also has served for eight years on the city's Planning Commission.

He and his wife, Phyllis, are members of the Romulus Historical Society and he formerly belonged to the Parent Teacher Organization at the old Mount Pleasant School. He and his wife are also the parents of two grown children, Steven and Susan.

He has worked for Kelsey Hayes/Wheels Inc. for the past 28 years as a electrician, electronic-hydraulic component tester.

Kreft on Monday also proudly displayed an endorsement letter from the Greater Detroit Building Trades Council.

Candy checks planned

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Halloween candy checks for Romulus youth will be conducted from 7 to 9 p.m. Oct. 31 at McDonald's Restaurant on Wayne Road (across from the high school).

The candy safety checks will be conducted by members of the Romulus Students Against Drunk Drivers, Brian Steffani, club president, reported this week.

The club and its advisor, Police Officer Rick Schwartz, also plan to conduct a Red Ribbon campaign (anti-drinking and driving) around Thanksgiving in the parking lots of local schools.

SAAD was also active on Oct. 13 at local homecoming week activities, marching in the parade and displaying a car crushed in a drunk driving accident.

Local girl dates talk show host, Jerry Springer

By Bob Harris and Benny Speers

People, places and things to do. If you know of a special person, event or a favorite entertainment spot, then let us know by writing your local paper or by calling Benny at (313) 730-1627. We want to hear from Wayne, Westland, Belleville, Inkster, Romulus, Canton and Nashville, Tenn.

That's right Nashville. Last week we wrote about television talk show host Jerry Springer who is dating a local girl, Colleen Walters. Well, we received a call from Colleen who says she indeed has dated Springer. She now lives in Nashville and works at the Grand Ole Opry with country music legend Porter Wagoner who has an upcoming album with Jerry Springer. The two will open some shows for Billy Ray Cyrus and hope to appear on the Oprah Winfrey Show (who is also a country music fan).

Miskos in Dearborn now is the "Bier" Garden. The old German beer house located at 22184 Michigan Ave. boasts a variety of 70 different kinds of beer, along with food and old fashion fun.

Local entertainer Wally Jackson is holding his annual Kid's Halloween Party on from 2 to 6 p.m. Oct. 29 at Reiser's Keyboard Lounge on Wayne Rd. and Palmer Rd. in Westland. The party will feature free hot dogs, pop, candy, live music, kiddie karaoke and a special appearance from Barney.

Have you been to the movies lately? How about the Canton 6, the Showcase Westland 8, or Laurel Park 10? Do you remember the old LaParisean in Garden City with rocking chairs? My favorites are the old P&A with a balcony in Plymouth and the Mai Kai on Plymouth Rd. and Farmington Rd., which later became the Omni Star then the George Burns Performing Arts Theater.

We like to support our local live music. Living For Today Band has two new members and will appear on Wednesdays at the new Club Mosquito in Westland. R.P.M. performs a live '50s show at Chatters. The bands Incurables, Sun Glasses After Dark, Blue Eyed Soul, A.D.B., Hot Walker, Gunslinger and even Benny and the Jets have new recordings out.

Don Most stars in Grease at the Fox

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

He was loved by audiences of all ages as "Ralph Malph" in Happy Days, and now the charismatic actor, Don Most, is taking center stage at the Fox Theatre as Vince Fontaine in Grease through Oct. 29.

Hit by the acting bug when he was only 9 years old by watching The Jolson Story, Most regularly acted in school and summer camp plays.

"I was probably 14 years old when I finally expressed my desire to become an actor to my parents," said Most. "They didn't think I was crazy or anything. They saw how much I wanted to do it, and they agreed to support me in my decision."

It was during his teen years that Most studied with Charles Lowe, a former vaudevillian who included Most in a night club act performed at several Catskill Mountain resorts.

When he was 16 years old, his father believed he needed a more intense acting study, so he suggested his son enroll at the workshop of Eleanor Raab, where he studied for two years.

During this time, Most, a Brooklyn native, attended Erasmus Hall High School where he was not only in the top 10 percent of his class of 1,700 students, but he also co-captained the swim team.

Following high school, he enrolled at LeHigh University as an engineering major, later changing to business. He said his heart, however, was still in acting.

"I started getting involved with commercials," said Most. "Within a four-year period, I did at least 40 commercials and enjoyed the work."

Desiring more stimulating and substantial acting challenges, Most decided to take six months off from school following his junior year to give California a try.

The timing couldn't have been more perfect. After landing several guest starring roles on television, casting began for a new situation comedy called Happy Days.

"What's ironic is I didn't audition for the role of Ralph Malph," said Most. "I was screen testing for Patsy. The producer, Gary Marshall, pretty much knew he wanted Anson Williams for that role, and he knew he wanted Ron Howard."

"Because my screen test went really well, they decided to create this character Ralph Malph. He was initially a guy who liked cars, and that's all they knew about him at that time."

Most's talents, however, are not limited to television. His extensive theater training has provided him many opportunities on stage including performances in Barefoot in the Park, Damn Yankees and Strike Up The Band.

Although Most has achieved success in many areas of his career, he said his ultimate goal would be to direct a film. "I love the whole world of film making," Most said.

Tickets are now on sale for Grease at all TicketMaster locations and at the Fox Theatre Box Office. For show times call (810) 433-1515.

The balls roll true at the upscale Shark Club

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

A new sports bar is making waves.

Ever since it opened five weeks ago, upscale members of the over-21 set are flocking to the Shark Club (42070 Ford Road, Canton) on weekends. (After 8 p.m., only adults are admitted.)

On-the-town diners, billiard players, dart throwers, and sports fans are wowing their friends and dates with the Shark Club's 12,000 square feet of mind-blowing elegance.

It's like the owners -- Michael Mazza and Joseph Puertas -- furnished their huge sports-billiards bar on an unlimited budget.

There are 24 billiard tables so fine that the Shark Club will be a regular stop on the Women's Professional Billiard Association's championship tour in 1996. This is because the club is one of three in the state to have Brunswick's best tables. And because the ladies, who compete at the Waterford Shark Club, demanded to play there.

Not only do billiard balls roll true, but the tables are computerized to pro rate table charges to the minute. A game costs $8 per hour Sunday-Thursday and $10 Friday and Saturday. On Wednesday -- Ladies' Night -- women play free. A woman and her date play for $4 per hour.

The quality is mirrored throughout the club: In the three 10-foot television screens and the 15 25-inch overhead televisions -- all hooked up to a satellite dish -- that provide patrons with the largest viewing area in town. The club's large seating capacity -- over 600 seats -- and its abundance of TVs made it the most popular sports bar to watch the Red Wings seek the Stanley Cup.

In the posh decor that includes artist Ty Wilson's abstract paintings on the walls, a high-tech ceiling with exposed ducts and drop industrial light fixtures; sleek, gray Formica dining tables that can be slid together to comfortably seat groups of 16 friends; and a black, leather-edged Formica bar below two hanging inflated sharks.

Of course, such a striking bar -- especially one serving crowds in the hundreds -- is incredibly well stocked.

"Any drink you can name, we can mix," said Mazza. "We have a fully stocked bar, including a discriminating selection of tasty microbrews."

The Sharks Club is noted for Black and Tans -- a Bass ale and Guinness Stout concoction.

The most economical time to sample the brews and spirits is during happy hour: 4-7 p.m. daily or on Thursday's pitcher night.

A full lunch and dinner menu complements the beverages, including creative South-

A week and a half after the Million Man March, I see signs that African American males have returned to their respective communities with renewed vigor to make things right with their families and neighborhoods. I'm hoping that these signs turn into reality.

Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

I know for one guy, Hugh Jackson, former president of the Pontiac Urban League, those march objectives have been a lifelong struggle. Jackson, through his Michigan Association of Leadership Development (MALD) spends every day in the streets of urban America attempting to instill responsibility and goals into the hearts and minds of African American males.

He is a true American hero. His work in the trenches is just as important as Louis Farrakhan's organizing skills of Jesse Jackson's speechmaking. Hopefully, more African Americans will follow Hugh Jackson's lead and teach our youth that hard work and responsibility are greater attributes than running drugs and being the leader of a gang.

Speaking of heroes! 76-year-old Loretta Wayne remains in critical condition at the University of Michigan Burn Center after saving the lives of several residents in a Westland apartment complex fire Sunday morning.

Wayne, ran up and down the apartment building corridors knocking on doors and screaming at the top of her lungs, warning residents that the 24-unit Westland Plaza Apartments were ablaze. Incredibly, Wayne was burning herself, yet she summoned the strength to warn her neighbors.

Her summoning was none to soon. Six neighbors were transported to area hospitals. A 10-month-old baby was dropped from the third floor into the waiting arms of a relative. Several apartments were totally destroyed leaving residents homeless.

As for Loretta Wayne, finally a neighbor grabbed her and pulled her into her apartment. Amazingly, the intensity of the heat emanating from Loretta's body caused the woman to receive several burns on her hands. After getting her to safety, Loretta was airlifted to Ann Arbor.

She is there, today, attempting to recover from first-degree burns and internal injuries. We hope she lives to receive her hero's welcome. No one is more deserving than this elderly grandmother who saved an entire apartment complex. Our prayers are with you, Loretta!

Mayor offers straight talk

Amid all of the celebrating and back-patting at the ribbon cutting ceremonies for the new $4 million Inkster Town Center, Inkster Mayor Edward Bivens Jr. had a few sobering thoughts for the joyous crowd.

Although congratulations and good wishes were the primary messages of the day, Bivens reminded residents that they have a responsibility for the success of the new shopping center.

First, they must patronize it if it is to be successful, and next, they must work with the police to prevent crime from discouraging future investments in Inkster.

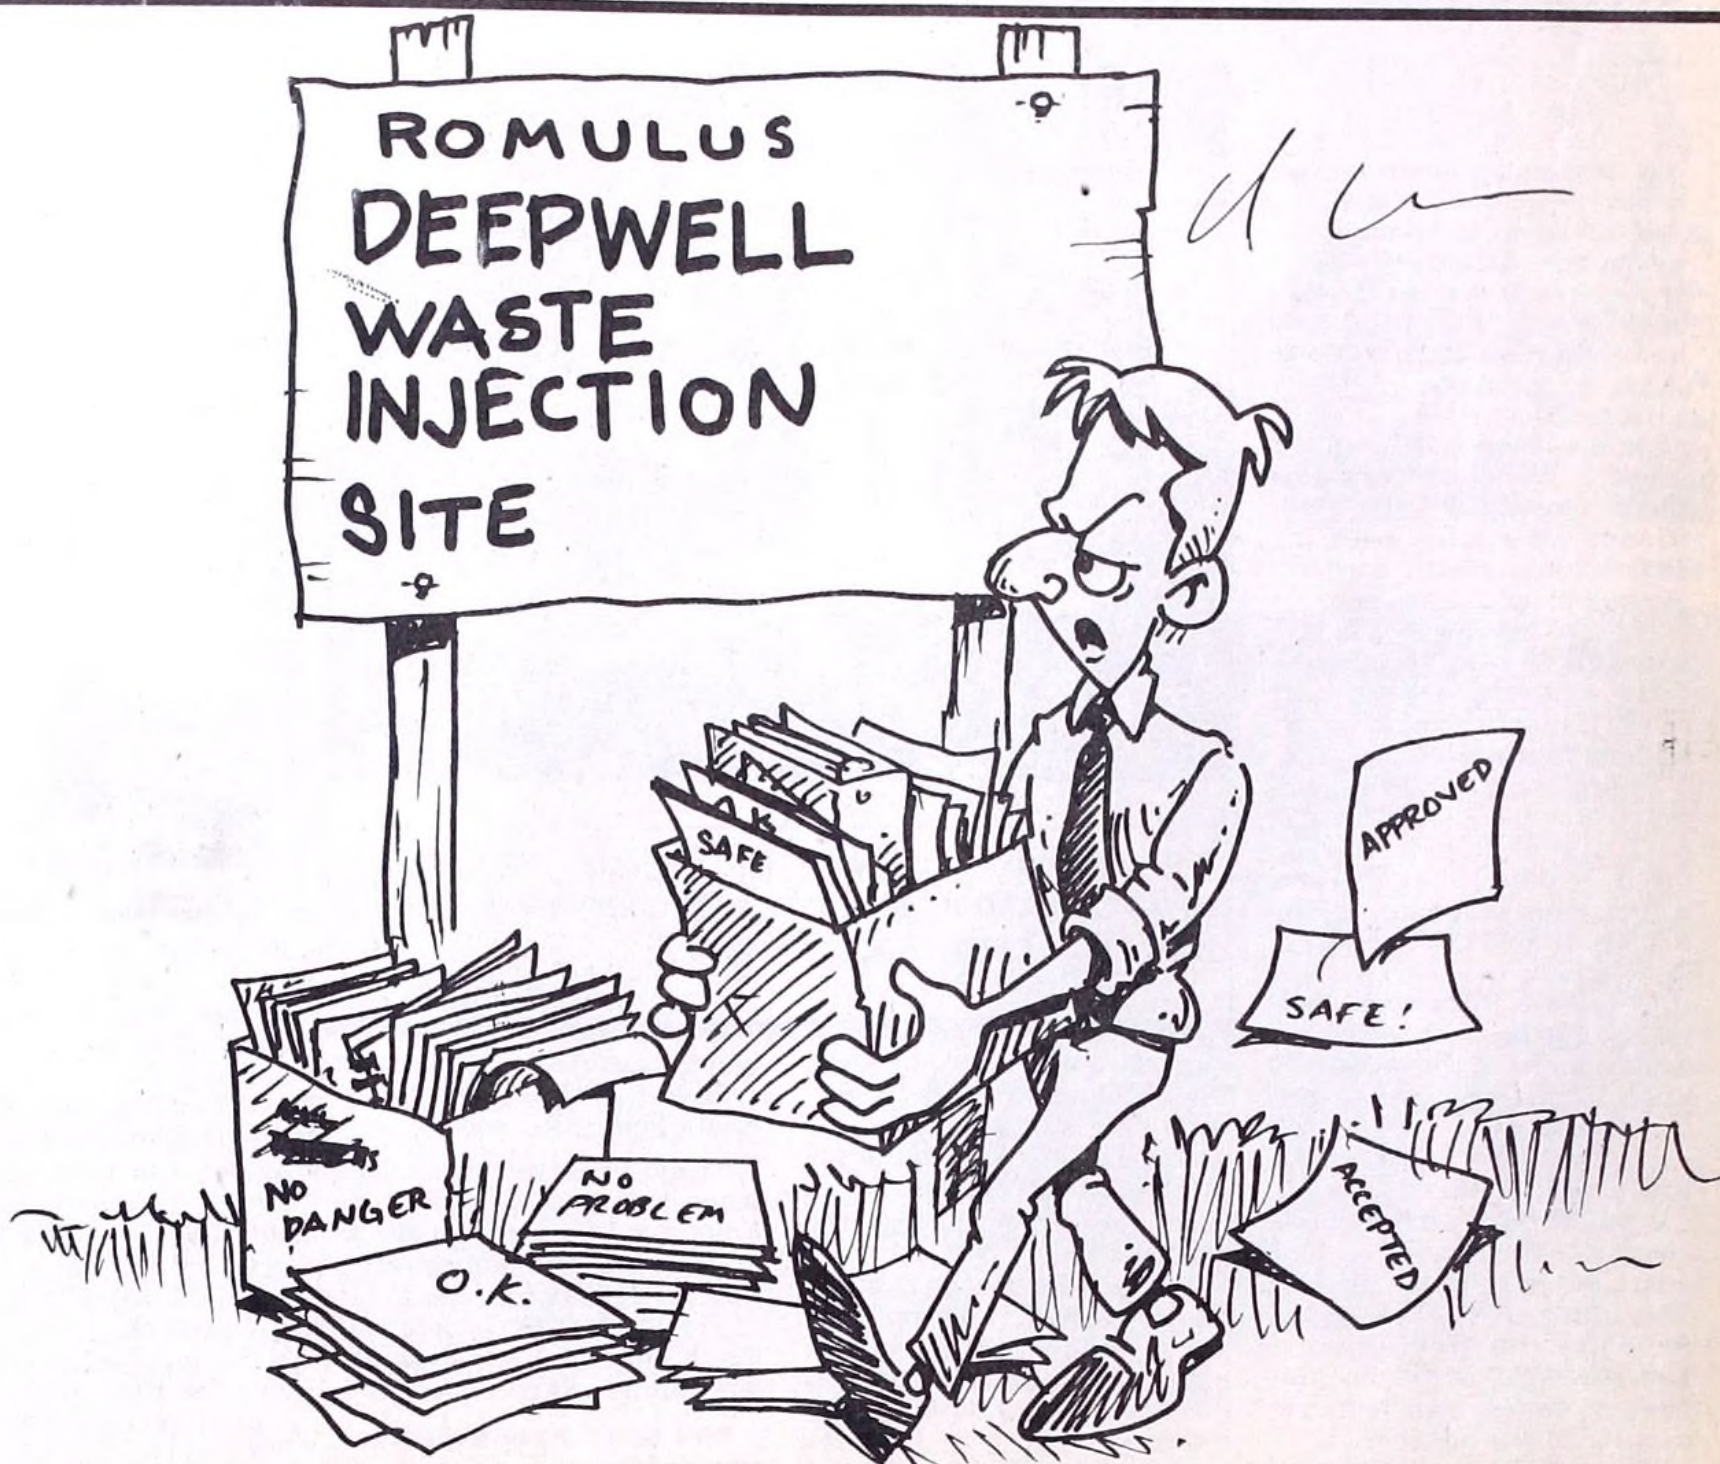

The mayor is right on target with his comments. If Inkster is to prosper, the businesses in the city must have the support of its residents.

The prosperity of businesses translate into more tax dollars, which in turn, fund the necessary programs and services of the city.

Vandalism and other criminal acts will have a negative impact, not only on the tenants at the new shopping center, but will affect the decisions of other businesses to locate in the city.

Therefore, residents must take an active part in alerting police to potential vandalism or other crime, and they must educate their children to respect the property of others.

Inkster residents waited more than 30 years for a shopping center in their city. The waiting is now over, but responsible actions to keep it thriving have just begun.

SO FAR, THE ONLY NEGATIVE ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT HAS BEEN FROM ALL THE EXCESS PAPER.

School choice has pitfalls

To the editor:

We read everywhere these days that school choice offers our children "freedom" and that such a choice will allow them to attend better schools and improve their old schools in the process. At first glance, school choice sounds beyond criticism. But a look below the surface shows how hollow the so-called "choice" found in House Bills 4987 and 4988 is and how those bills invite severe abuse.

Contrary to popular belief, the "choice" bills before the House would not allow real choice but only allow school districts to choose which kids they will accept from other districts. If the district decides to only accept students with strong academic performance, who benefits? If the district decides to accept only children of one color, who benefits? If the district gives preference to children who are student athletes, who benefits? None of these scenarios are in the best interests of the majority of students in this state.

These abuses were not invented by the bills' opponents. All of them were used to justify a 1982 amendment that changed the school choice law to its present form. If we had a faulty system before, why would we return to it?

There's more. Parents whose children are attending school outside of the home district will have no motivation to vote for improvements in their local schools. If children are more likely to attend schools in better-funded districts, why should these districts' taxpayers provide money for children transferring in?

The so-called "choice" advanced in these bills is perfectly adapted to the shallow debate and the breakneck speed allowed these days in the Michigan House and Senate.

Attendance is concern

To the editor:

Before Westland residents decide who to vote for in the upcoming election, they might want to check the attendance records of those who are currently serving on either the council or the school board.

I have learned that Richard LeBlanc has missed several school board meetings in the last three years.

Also check how many times the candidate has tried to raise our taxes. Richard LeBlanc led the charge in placing a tax rate hike on the ballot for the school district last June.

I'm also sick and tired of those politicians who don't finish out their entire terms before seeking other offices. Come on Richard LeBlanc don't you think the citizens of this city know you only ran for school board as a stepping stone for city council? The citizens of this fine city aren't as dumb as you think.

I distrust cold calculated politicians. We need someone who is in it for all the right reasons.

C. Porter

Support questioned

To the editor:

I read Walter Warren's letter last week in which he stated he supports Richard LeBlanc the Wayne-Westland School Board Member. Is he nuts? Just look at what Richard LeBlanc has done for the Wayne-Westland School District. The district until this year, was in the worst shape ever.

I don't personally know him, but I am convinced that he is not the person we need for the city council. Further more, he shouldn't be re-elected to the school board either. I've learned that his campaign manager is the woman who is responsible for the ultimate downfall of the school district — Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek.

Last year when he stated that he was sorry he eliminated secondary transportation and that he wasn't aware how many students it would affect was the last straw. Doesn't this man know how to do his homework before he votes? Please fellow residents, don't do this to our city. We deserve better.

Is big brother watching?

To the editor:

Not surprisingly the Ruby Ridge and Waco incidents are contrived pseudoevents designed by overzealous members of the political correctness movement. Their overreaction to conservative patriots and fundamentalist religious groups escalated rapidly into a shoot-on-sight crusade aimed at punishing individuals who dare to be different.

Election fires up community

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

With Election Day 1995 swiftly approaching and both sides in the mayoral race projecting victory, the winner could ultimately well be the candidate who attracts more former dormant voters to the polls than the other.

With the top three office seekers running unopposed for about a decade, each election day seemed to create less and less of a voter turnout.

But with a potential 15,000 voter head count, both sides are hoping the formerly disaffected voter will troop to the polls on Nov. 7 in record numbers.

Council candidates tied too closely to the losing mayoral candidate, could slip badly in their finishing position also, observers say.

While outwardly the campaign itself seems mild, the war of words between the mayoralty candidates' supporters seem to be growing more vicious.

A week ago this writer, heard the supporters of one candidate lambaste the backer of another as a "maggot." As a campaign watcher, I'm glad this campaign hasn't gotten personal.

Supporters of incumbent Mayor Beverly McAnally feel she has re-invigorated her forces in recent weeks and a new confidence is exhibited by all.

They cite former Mayor William Oakley's limited skills as a public speaker and say his laid-back style of campaigning probably will do him in.

Those old and aware

Post
Scripts

enough, they say, can remember how tight fisted Oakley was while he served as mayor.

Some of Oakley's own supporters have been urging him to take a harder stance against McAnally.

"Gentleman Bill" as some of his backers call him, needs to strike back and not let McAnally set the tone of the campaign. Oakley, who recently completed a door-to-door campaign, is heeding that advice and stepping up his war against McAnally.

Backers of Oakley state "if Bill doesn't win, people are just happy with politics as usual in Romulus." Oakley says if elected he will add fiscal responsibility to City Hall.

The most ardent Oakley campaign workers feel if McAnally wins, it could mean that she will name her successor also in two years.

They claim that McAnally was ready to pass her mantle to Community Development Director Jane Downing, if Oakley had not challenged her in June.

But they claim, that possibility is over now and that Downing's political future in Romulus is cloudy at best.

Voters nationally are not happy. Will that extend to the city of Romulus for the first time in years? Will incumbents fall as voters work to effect term limitations of their own?

McAnally and Councilmen Jimmie Raspberry and Ellis Pennington briefly aired talk of retirement early this year, but because of the furor over the injection well issue, all decided to run at least one last time.

Only the voters will decide which if any of the trio will have their "Last Hurrah!"

The other issue on the mayoral level is how long are McAnally's political coattails.

Most residents, including her own supporters, claim not too long. They cite McAnally's inability to get many referenda passed during her tenure and the fact that incumbent 34th District Court Judge Felix Rogalle could not even win one precinct in Romulus (or the other four municipalities covered by the court) despite the fact McAnally was one of his most prominent supporters.

On the council side, everyone seems to be setting their guns on Councilman Randolph Gear, a long-term Detroit art teacher.

Gear easily outgunned the opposition in the primary, despite the constant claim he wouldn't make the seventh seat cut (the number of seats available in the upcoming election).

Two years ago we had a council tie.

Is it possible we could have a mayoral tie or even more far fetched a seven seat tie on Nov. 7?

You could have a voice in that decision. Is it worth 10 minutes or less or your time to help decide your city's future?

We'd never argue with that age-old claim. But we want to caution you to not take it for granted. Especially in the 90's.

As resilient as women have historically been, today's culture seems to be taking its toll. Today, women are becoming more at risk for heart problems than ever before. Far more. Last year, over one-half million women suffered heart attacks. And about 245,000 die of coronary heart disease each year.

Are you at risk? Answer the questions in this ad.

- ☐ Body Fat Distribution: Are you "pear-shaped", or "apple"? Women who carry their extra weight around the waist rather than hips, may have a higher risk for heart disease.
- ☐ Stress: Do you feel like your life is out of control? Some common ways of coping with stress, such as overeating and heavy drinking, are bad for your heart.
- ☐ Age and menopause: The older you get, the higher your risk of heart attack. Especially over age 65.
- ☐ Smoking: Have you stopped? A smoker's risk of heart attack is twice that of a non-smoker.

Grand Master arrives for Wayne black belt tournament

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

He is peaceful yet powerful. He has the face of an angel but the physique of a lion.

Greet Grand Master Hae Man Park in person, and you may think this average-sized man could lift only a child. He has the strength, however, to fight more than 10 men at one time.

Park is a ninth-degree black belt Grand Master. There are only two other men in the world who are at a higher level in the Tae Kwon Do martial arts field than Park.

He travels around the world to various Tae Kwon Do studios teaching the most important elements of the self-defense art, and one of his frequent stops is Kicks in Wayne where he assists in training the students of Senior Master Ronald Rose.

"He has produced more black belts in Tae Kwon Do than anyone else," said Rose. "Tenth-degree is the highest level in Tae Kwon Do, and it's actually an honorary ranking so Grand Master Park is at the pedestal in this sport."

Park will be judging two championships sponsored by Kicks this weekend. The Friday event takes place 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Stevenson High School, 33500 west 6 mile in Livonia.

Rose, who is currently a sixth-degree black belt, will be tested to become a seventh-degree black belt candidate.

Many other Tae Kwon Do students will be challenged to increase their skills at this match.

On Oct. 28, the Korean Tae Kwon Do Association of America National Championships take place 10 a.m. at Stevenson Junior High School in Westland, 38501 Palmer Road.

Rose will act as the tournament director with co-directors Master Christine Rose, Master David Turgeon and Master Michael Gagne.

Where has Park traveled throughout his many years as a Grand Master sharing his talents?

"I've been to Russia, Fiji, Australia, and many European countries," said Park. "Tae Kwon Do is something that stays with you all of your life. You are always learning new techniques."

Park has trained a wide variety of professions from police officers to secret service men and women.

"The oldest student I have had was 80 years old, and the youngest was 6 years old," said Park.

Besides learning physical strength, the Martial Arts teaches students of all ages respect, according to Park.

"Even though this is a physical sport, the main thing they learn is respect and how to completely focus and concentrate not only on Tae Kwon Do, but whatever they put their mind to in their lives," said Park. "It helps to cleanse the mind and body."

Rose said he has learned many important lessons of life from Park that he can pass on to his students with humility being on the top of the list.

"This man is so powerful and yet so kind and humble," said Rose. "I know all of my students will gain something from this man's wisdom."

Park has maintained many honorary positions throughout his years including being the head of security for the president of South Korea and acting as a chairman of referees in the 1988 Olympics in Korea.

He is expected to play a major role in the 2000 Olympics when Tae Kwon Do will be considered a medal sport for the first time.

"He was also a stuntman in Korean movies," said Rose. "He is well known for his work in those films."

Area residents are invited to attend both Tae Kwon Do championships this weekend. Spectator admission is $6 for adults and $4 for children.

For more information on becoming a competitor contact Rose at (313) 728-3027.

Belleville undisputed Mega Conference champ

Lewis, Manuel lead charge against upstart Fordson, 14-13

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

The magic was still there. Despite the fact that defending champ Belleville had lost their touch of gold - Ian Gold - that is.

With Gold, who has scored 18 touchdowns during the 1995 campaign on the sidelines nursing a sprained knee, Belleville still had the magic to put down an upstart Fordson, 14-13, Saturday afternoon in Dearborn.

Some 2,000 Belleville Fans sweated it out despite the cold rains and northerly winds.

"We knew it was going to be a tough game for us. Fordson has the tradition and is a very physical team," said Belleville coach Bob LaPointe. "And going into this without Ian didn't help."

"But these kids did what they had to do, and they did it." And it went right down to the last play between the two Mega Conference Red Division titans.

Fordson managed to maneuver within field goal range in the closing seconds and the Tractors decided to go for the three-points which would have given them the victory.

Fordson kicker, Basel Farraj, who has consistently been able to connect from the 40-yard range, set up for the game-deciding play. This would be a 21-yard field goal attempt.

As the players moved into position an eerie silence grabbed the fans in the stands on both sides of the Fordson stadium. That silence was accentuated by the howl of the winds which suddenly became a whimper compared to the cries of the fan.

As Farraj rushed to put his toe into the ball, from out of nowhere, like a torpedo fixed on a target, Belleville's Nate Lewis came out of the secondary and met the slow-rising pigskin and the two greeted each other in midair with resounding results.

The ball fell aimlessly to the Fordson green, and Farraj's face reflected the agony of defeat.

Lewis had preserved Belleville's hard-earned victory.

The victory stretched the Tiger winning streak to eight and gave LaPointe and Belleville the undisputed Red Division title for the second consecutive year.

Up to that decisive last-chance play, both teams battled like a mongoose attacking a cobra.

Belleville drew blood first as Rodney Komaromi plowed into the Fordson end zone from the three midway in the opening quarter after a Lewis-engineered drive that featured the running of senior tailback Joe Manuel.

Eric Harrison nailed both point-after, and one of those obviously was all-important to the Tiger cause.

Manuel also set up Belleville's second score. He broke one off tackle for 51 yards. With less than two minutes to the intermission, Lewis handed off to Komaromi who scored what proved to be the final Tiger TD of the game.

The Tractors trailed 14-7 at the half, their lone first-half TD coming of a sustained drive that culminated with Ramsey Hammond finding the proverbial paydirt from the eighty-yard line. The Tractors kept the game in doubt thanks to running back Kamel Jaafar's five-yard touchdown run.

Lewis brushed aside the elements, which made the pigskin as slippery as an eel, and connected on six of 11 passes for 109 yards.

Bulldogs keep their hope alive

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

As games go, it may not be the biggest in Robichaud or coach Bob Yauck's long career.

But the reigning Suburban Athletic Conference football champs realize that they will need a victory over Monroe Jefferson Friday night if they hope to stay alive for the fourth - and final - playoff berth in their Class B region.

"A lot of things must happen for us to qualify," said Yauck, who brings the curtains down on his 33rd year as a prep football coach Friday night. "But none of the things will happen if we lose over there."

The previously undefeated Jefferson lost the Huron Conference title a week ago to natural rival, Monroe Catholic CC. CC claimed the crown by virtue of a 29-21 victory.

"We know they are tough," said Yauck, commenting on the pending confrontation, which could be the last of the 1995 campaign. "We must beat them and then await the outcome of those who are ahead of us in our region."

In region 4, Jackson Lumen Christi has the top spot, followed by Detroit Country Day, Melvindale then Monroe CC.

"Mathematically, we stand a chance, but when you're in a league with two Class C schools, it isn't much of a chance."

For that reason, Yauck added, Robichaud will compete as an independent a year from now. School officials have informed the SAC its intentions of severing ties at the end of the current school year.

Robichaud's slim playoff chances remained intact last week as senior running back Omar Speights scored three touchdowns to lead the Bulldogs to a 26-0 victory over

Wayne brings best out of the Romulus gridders

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Wayne Memorial apparently brings the best out of Romulus.

Coach Chuck Howton's Zebras did just that Friday night as Romulus, down by as much as two touchdowns in the first half, rallied behind senior quarterback Ryan Evans to jolt visiting Wayne, 33-22, in their first-ever Mega Conference Red Division encounter on the gridiron.

"It was our best effort this season, and it could not have come at a more opportune time," said first-year-Romulus coach Mark Woodson. "We showed a lot of poise and courage. Our kids could have quit but they kept coming back."

Howton also gave Romulus a lot of credit for its come-from-behind victory.

"They did an excellent job, especially in the second half. After our two initial scores, we had poor field position the rest of the night."

In the opening quarter, Wayne came on as strong as the winds, winds that blew video cameras off of the press box and forced the operators to seek shelter.

Wayne quarterback Lorenzo Guess engineered a pair of first-half drives that culminated in running back Dwayne Jackson's two touchdown runs. Jackson scored from the eight and from 14-yards out to stake the Zebras to a 12-0 advantage. He also accounted for a two-point conversion.

The only other Wayne score came in the third quarter when Guess and junior end Richard Rashad combined on a 20-yard TD strike.

But, after the initial shock, Evans & Company settled down and went to work. The senior QB found weaknesses in the Wayne secondary and capitalized on them by using the wind to his advantage.

"They did an excellent job, especially in the second half."

-Chuck Howton

Evans and receiver Jamal Bailey combined on a 40-yard pass-run touchdown play, and the two came back and repeated with a stunning 80-yarder TD play that Wayne will not soon forget.

Romulus also received a pair of touchdowns from running back Fred Russell, who tallied from 12 yards out and also registered one from the 18.

Evans wound up the evening with 12 of 18 pass completions for 184 yards and two TDs. Gardner finished with 72 yards rushing on 11 carries while Russell chipped in 64 yards on 11 tries.

Jamal Prince, a key to Romulus' man-to-man coverage in the secondary, played an outstanding game. Teammates Nick Stencil, a tackle, caused a fumble, and Brian Tyus, an end, helped in the rush on Wayne's backfield.

Romulus will wrap up its inaugural season in the Mega Conference Friday night with a crossover game at Garden City, a team that Woodson says "may have a losing record, but can play tough."

"Off of the scores I have seen, Garden City has been in almost every game they have played this season," Woodson said. "I don't have a scouting breakdown on them, but I expect a tough game over there."

In the meantime, Howton and the Zebras will attempt to rebound at the expense of none other than natural rival, Westland John Glenn. Wayne will host the traditional fall classic between the two Wayne-Westland School District teams.

Belleville outruns Monroe to finish 1st at league

Regional next for Tigers

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

It was a first, and a big one at that, for Belleville cross country coach Sam Vicchy and the Tiger runners.

Not only did they avenge earlier dual meet losses to Monroe and Dearborn Edsel Ford, but for the first time in Belleville history its women's cross country team won the annual Mega Conference Red Division meet.

"This is a turning-point victory for our program," said Vicchy. "First, we have never beaten Monroe in cross country; secondly, we have never finished first at the league meet. Winning the league meet, to me, is winning the league championship."

"It is a great feeling, and a greater accomplishment by these young ladies."

Belleville compiled 33 points, which provided the Tigers with a six-point cushion over perennial state power, Monroe. Monroe, the defending Mega Conference champ, finished second with 39, followed by Edsel Ford (69), Wyandotte (71) and Redford Union (113).

Although Wayne Memorial fielded its first CC team in recent years, the Zebras didn't have enough finishers to count in the final tally.

Despite its victory at the conference meet, Belleville will have to settle for second-best overall because of its dual meet record. The Tigers sustained a pair of losses during the course of the regular season.

Edsel Ford's premier runner, Tara Shamey, surfaced as the 1995 conference champ. She covered the 3,000-meter distance in 20:20, while Monroe's Marian Ford settled for the silver medal. She was clocked in 20:42.

Belleville's best, Tammy Pietrowski, led the Tiger pack. Pietrowski's 20:57 earned her a bronze medal and a berth on the all-conference team. Teammates Beth Hiser and Kathy Ackron also captured all-conference accolades thanks to

6th-man settles deadlock

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

A tie is like kissing your sister, ex-Michigan State head football coach and sophist Duffy Daugherty used to say.

But, in the case of the 48-tie on Saturday between arch-rivals Monroe and Wyandotte, there was "no kissing" just "hugging" and jubilation by Wyandotte runners after conference officials counted the scores of the sixth-runner, and Wyandotte came out of the conference the victor.

However, since Monroe had defeated Wyandotte in dual meet competition and had the better dual meet record in the division, the defending champ Monroe emerged with the title thanks to its overall record.

Dearborn Fordson, which produced the conference's individual champ in Abdul Alvindani, piled up 52 points - third-best in the conference, followed by Dearborn (62), Taylor Center (118), Belleville (137) and Wayne Memorial (DNF).

Belleville coach George Devore said he had hoped that his team would have finished higher in the standings but added that he was not disappointed at his team's overall efforts.

"We have a very young team and we should be able to build on this year's experience," Devore added. "Our lineup basically is made up of underclassmen."

Alvindani served notice that he will be a strong contender for the Class A state title after touring the 5,000-meter course at Willow Park with an outstanding 15:46. He was not challenged after the three-mile mark. Dearborn sophomore Reed Steele, who last week set a Westland John Glenn course record, finished second in 16:30 for the conference silver, while the bronze was awarded to Monroe's Matt Hoffman, who had a 16:49 run.

Belleville's best was turned in by freshman Josh Brandon, who finished 33rd in 19:39. Teammates Jim Benson (20:18) and Bobby Smith (22:00) were 37th and 39th, respectively.

Forget records

Playoff-hopeful Canton squares off against Salem in season's finale

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Forget records. Or past performances. The day - that is - the night of reckoning for playoff hopeful Plymouth-Canton and Plymouth-Salem has arrived. The two battle-wary, natural opponents will square off Friday night to answer the question which prep football fans ask each year around this time: Which team is best?

Record-wise, with a 5-2 record and still in contention for a Class AA playoff berth, it's Canton.

Salem, with a 2-5 mark, definitely is the underdog this year.

Ask Salem coach Tom Moshimer. We did.

"They (Canton) have had a great year," said Moshimer. "And they have two of the finest athletes in the area in Johnson (Rob) and Hunter (Ron). We will have to play our best game to beat them. And, believe me, I'm not exaggerating the fact."

Canton coach Bob Khoenle says his team may have the better won-lost record.

"But, when these two teams meet in any kind of competition, you can toss out the records. It's the old bragging rights kind of game. These kids know one another. There's too much pride at stake."

"One thing for sure," Khoenle added. "It will be a good, hard-hitting old-fashion physical game."

There is also a small glimmer of hope that if Canton wins, and fate interrupts the plans of teams in front of the Chiefs in the region standings, Canton may yet be awarded a playoff berth.

Walled Lake Central edged Canton, 10-3, Friday night in a game that was decided in the final minutes when Central's ace, tailback Matt Koschke, trumped the Chiefs with a 71-yard run that made the difference.

The loss jeopardized Canton's playoff plans.

"We gave up one big play to them," said Khoenle. "It hurt us."

Coach, it was also fatal. But a Canton infraction also played a decisive role in its fall.

Senior Ron Hunter broke one in the second quarter from midfield and dashed across the goal line only to have the six-points ripped off the scoreboard because of a holding penalty.

In that quarter, the Chiefs scored what proved to be their only points when Rob Gumber booted a 36-yard field goal after a Canton drive stalled.

Both teams turned to their defenses after that, and Canton managed to keep their counterparts from the Western Division off the scoreboard thanks to the efforts, in part, of tackle Chris Hornick, downed lineman Shawn Dyer and line-backer Nick Kanaan.

In the meantime, Salem also felt the sting of the "big play".

Although Salem hurled the first Rock and scored early, Walled Lake Western came back with touchdowns in each of the four quarters to claim a 28-14 victory in the conference finale.

Salem quarterback Nate Gray scored his first of two TDs on a 13-yard jaunt after a midfield march. Brian James kicked the extra point to lift Salem to a 7-0 lead.

Western answered late in the quarter for the tie, then scored a TD in the second quarter to grab a 13-7 lead at the intermission. Western added another TD in the third frame and scored an insurance touchdown in the finale.

Gray, who had an outstanding game, scored his second TD from the 18. He hit on nine of 15 passes for 79 yards and rushed for 101 yards on 16 carries.

But four fumbles - three of those lost - contributed to Salem's demise.

Although Salem had an overwhelming edge over Western in first downs (15-5), Western cashed in big on runs of 73, 61, and 27 for their scores.

Moshimer also stressed that "giving up the big play, especially on third-down situations, caused most of our problems."

Tigers

fourth (21:07) and fifth (21:15) place finishes.

Belleville also counted the scores of Michelle King, who finished eighth in 21:33, while Lisa Jones placed 13th (22:11). The Tigers also received a 21st-place finish from Jamie Koren, who toured the Willow Park course in 22:43.

The top 10 runners are recognized as all-conference, Vichy noted.

"And placing four of our runners on the all-conference team is a real honor," he added.

Vichy and the Tigers will travel to the Highlands in the downriver community of Riverview on Saturday to compete in the Class A regionals. The Tigers hope to finish in the top three which would qualify them for the first time for the state finals.

"We have talked about winning the conference meet for some time," Vichy added. "These girls don't realize how good they really are. Now they

"And there is no reason in the world why we can't finish in the top three at our regional and qualify for state."

At the regional, Belleville will see Monroe and Edsel Ford again but Temperance Bedford as well as Lincoln Park will also be taking outstanding contingents to the regionals and should be powers to contend with.

Slow-starting Rockets rip Northville, 21-7

They may have gotten off to a slow start, but once airborne, John Glenn's Rockets soared 21-7 Friday night against Northville.

Northville shook Glenn when Niele Kersey did what no punt returner has managed to do in recent years against the Rockets' defense - the Colts specialty team member returned a punt 60-yards for a touchdown to give Northville a 6-0 lead early in the first quarter.

Northville turned it into a 7-0 game with the point-after.

Then, Glenn and quarterback Justin Berent went to work. With 6:12 on the clock in the second quarter, Berent fired a five-yard touchdown pass to Jon Becker who grabbed his first varsity career TD. Steve Paling tied the game with he nailed the ball between the uprights.

But in that second frame, the Rockets sustained a serious setback when their top rusher, tailback Jay Jackson suffered an injury that sidelined him for the rest of the game.

Jackson should be ready for Friday night's encounter with arch-rival, Wayne. Wayne will host the traditional fall classic, which gets underway at 7:30 p.m.

Jackson was replaced by junior Steve Hester who, along with fullback Matt Griglio, were the catalysts on offense the rest of the evening.

With 8:18 showing in the third quarter, Glenn snapped the deadlock as Berent scored on a QB sneak from the one. With Paling's boot, the Rockets were up 14-7.

The Westlanders got their insurance TD in the fourth after Griglio intercepted a delinquent Northville pass at the Colts' 31. He later scored his first touchdown from the five. Paling made it three in a row with the extra point.

Bulldogs

L'Anse Creuse North of Mt. Clemens.

Speights went on a rampage as he rushed for 195 yards on 30 attempts, three of those going for touchdowns. He scored from the two, three and eight yard lines.

In the past three games, Speights has single-handedly accounted for 530-yards.

"He has been outstanding," said Yauck. "It's too bad we can't play those first two games over now."

Robichaud's junior outside linebacker Justin Knox cashed in on a misfired L'Anse Creuse pass for the fourth Bulldog TD. Knox picked off the pass and ran it back 55 yards.

One of the four Robichaud scores was set up an Arthur Hudgens' blocked punt. Hudgens managed to block two of them for the evening, one of those Robichaud recovered inside the opponent's 10-yard line.

Sophomore fullback Jason Malloy turned in another solid performance on offense as well as on the line on defense.

The victory was Robichaud's sixth in eight starts this year. The champs dropped their first two games of the season before stringing together their current winning streak.

Canton Chiefs pass Livonia

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

Their record is 12-3, and their coach says, "They're playing good."

The Canton Chiefs girls basketball team, coached by Bob Blohm, seem to be having an easy year.

Of course, even when a team is playing as well as Canton, there is always room for improvement.

Blohm said he has definitely noticed improvement.

"They have been real conscientious in the way they have played. They have made improvements since the first, fifth and 10th games. We're at game 15 now, and they are still making progress."

The Chiefs made it look easy against the Franklin Patriots, winning the game 61-37.

Kristi Fiorenzi got the game started for the Chiefs, scoring two points right away.

She scored 13 points in the first quarter. Co-captains Becky Vachow and Sarah Warnke rounded out the scoring for the Chiefs, putting them up 16-7 at the end of the first quarter.

The Chiefs really showed what they were made of in the second quarter. The offense and the defense combined, as the Chiefs pulled way ahead of Franklin, 38-18 at the half.

There seemed to be an increase in the amount of effort put forward by the whole team in the second quarter. Scoring for the Chiefs came from Warnke (8 points), Fiorenzi (2), Melissa Marzolf (6), Vachow (5), and Kristin Lukasik (1).

Even though they were behind, the Patriots had something to celebrate at the beginning of the third quarter.

As Tracy Rynkiewicz sank a free-throw, Franklin fans cheered and held up a sign congratulating No. 24 on 1,000 career points.

Their celebration was short-lived, however, as Canton kept a firm grip on the game.

Franklin out-scored Canton in the third quarter, 12-11. It wasn't enough, however, as the score was 49-30 going into the

State guard towers requested in bill

A bill calling for guard towers at state prisons was introduced in the Michigan House of Representatives.

House Bill 5329, introduced by Rep. Terry Geiger, R-Lake Odessa, requires guard towers at the level II and higher prisons.

Michigan has towers at all of its maximum-security prisons, and the low-security facilities are not included in the bill. About 15 prisons would be af-final eight minutes of the game.

The Canton defense held the Patriots to only seven points in the final quarter, as the offense went on another rampage, scoring 12 points.

Their speed and accuracy in passing the ball, may be two of their greatest assets.

"It's the players' dedication to working hard at improving that has contributed to our success," Blohm stated. "We have the talent, and they are willing to contribute to building on it."

Blohm thinks his team is ready for the Conference Finals. "I think the defense has improved, and their rebounding has also. But, with teams like Walled Lake Central, Salem and Northville, the competition is going to be very tough."

fect by the legislation.

"Guard towers provide perimeter security and internal security, which is vital to the safety of the officers working in the prison," Geiger said.

"Incidents at Carson City, Adrian, Saginaw and the Michigan Training Unit in Ionia have amplified the need for towers," Geiger said.

There are 8,300 prison officers overseeing nearly 40,000 state inmates.

Much is being said about the rigorous screening process we put our doctors through. But don't worry. Some survive.

It's a tall order. And maybe not every doctor is cut out for it. But then if we're going to make things easier for our patients, we must strive to provide quality doctors. So, before any doctors become Blue Care Network doctors, before they ever examine a single patient, they must first meet or surpass some rather lofty standards. Here's what it takes. First, all doctors (personal care physicians and specialists) are reviewed against specific written criteria. (Quality of care is the thing we're measuring here.)

Moreover, an on-site inspection is conducted by specially trained staff and the results are reviewed by Blue Care Network doctors in the area.

Patient satisfaction surveys are conducted by a professional, independent research company. Here, we ask patients to evaluate their doctor's technical skills as well as the basic level of service and care. Blue Care Network also works with its personal care physicians to ensure that standards are met.

Oh, and one more thing. After meeting all these standards, the doctors who are selected have the pleasure of repeating this process all over again every two years. For as long as they're with us.

Wayne swimmers close to peak

By LORI GILLESPIE

Wayne Memorial's girls swim team has not reached its potential, and their coach, Mike Grueber, is not worried. "I am very pleased with the progression they have made. We're not quite where we want to be, but we are aiming at our goal," Grueber stated.

On Oct. 17, at home, the Zebras trampled all over the team from Ypsilanti. The final score was 127-56.

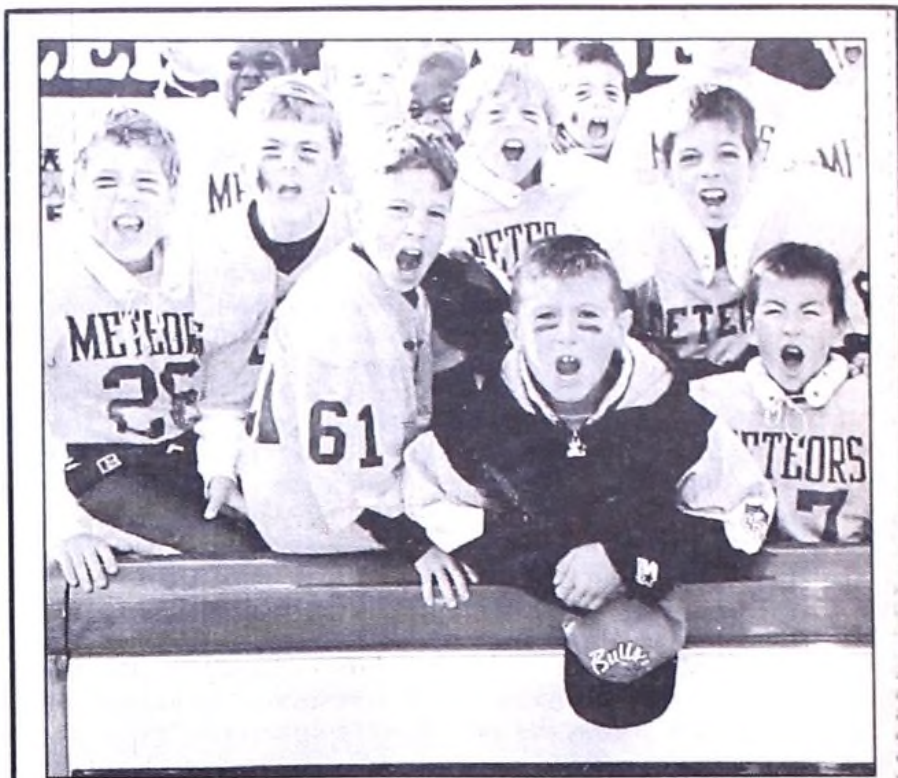

Grueber said that his whole team swam well as a group, but, Teresa Yorke's effort was described as "outstanding" by the coach. Yorke swam her best time, 5:53.86, in the 500 Freestyle.

Wayne is 4-3 overall, 2-3 in league meets.

Earlier this season, the Zebras hosted the Wayne Invitational. Out of seven teams, Wayne placed second, behind Wyandotte.

"I am very happy with the effort they've put out so far," Grueber stated. "We're hoping to do well in the next three weeks before the league meets begin the first week in November. I think the girls will be ready for the play-offs after their next dual meet. They will have their minds set on the goal."

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

In their first game of the season, the Inkster Polar Bears shut out the Howell Lady Blues, 2-0.

Leslie Culver and Kim Les sent the puck into the net in the first period of the game on Oct. 17.

After this, the Polar Bears' defense went to work. Kellie Bondar stood tall in the net, facing 26 shots, allowing none to go in.

"It was a hard-fought game. Howell has a good team," Gil Ruicci, coach of the Polar Bears, stated. "They played very well, considering we were short one person."

Bondar agreed with this, adding, "Even though this was our first game, everybody came out and worked hard. We put out a good effort. By the way we played, you wouldn't know it was our first game of the season."

The Polar Bears are now going on the road. Their next game is Oct. 29, against the Melvindale Arctic Storm. Beginning at 9:30 p.m., the game will be played at the Allen Park Civic Arena.

The Polar Bears' next home game, at the Inkster Civic Arena, will be at 7 p.m. Nov. 29.

YOU AND YOUR DOCTOR: A WINNING HEALTHCARE TEAM

by Lynn Blavin, M.D.

Enjoying

GOOD HEALTH

You and your doctor are partners in healthcare. Whether you are ill, have ongoing medical problems, or just want information on maintaining good health, it is important that you and your doctor work together as a team.

Prepare for the visit

Before your visit to the doctor, think about the questions you want to ask — you may even want to write them down so you don't forget any of them. Also, make a list of all the medications you are taking, both prescription and over-the-counter varieties. It is important that your doctor is aware of all your medications.

Communication is the key

Your doctor can do the most to help you get well and stay well if he or she has all the relevant information. You can help by clearly stating your concerns. If you have more than one concern, let your doctor know at the beginning of your visit.

Make sure you understand your diagnosis and the treatment the doctor recommends. Don't hesitate to ask questions. If medication is prescribed, find out when to take it and what side effects you might experience. Write down the doctor's instructions if you think you might forget.

If you are unable or unwilling to follow through on recommended tests, treatments or behaviors, let your doctor know. Perhaps there is something else that can be tried.

If your doctor diagnoses a serious illness, be sure you understand your options, including your right to refuse treatment. On major issues and complex procedures, you might consider getting a second opinion.

You should be an active participant in making decisions about your healthcare. Work with your doctor, and together you can be a winning team!

Declared safe Independent well study reveals no threats to the community

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

In an independent report, prepared for Michigan Community Newspapers, the Environmental Disposal System (EDS) Inc. 1-20 disposal well was found to pose no danger to the community.

EDS has constructed a well approximately 4,477 feet below ground level for the purpose of injecting hazardous and non-hazardous wastes. Since its proposal, the project has been met with opposition from residents who claim that the facility will be harmful to the environment despite the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) statement that "no significant environmental impact should result from the construction of the well."

Paul A. Daniels, Jr., a registered professional geologist, submitted his report to Publisher Mike Wilcox, noting in his professional opinion, "The installation of the Environmental Disposal Systems Inc. 1-20 Disposal Well, located in Romulus ... has been conducted in accordance with standard industry practices."

"Further, it is the professional opinion of this writer that, as such, the EDS 1-20 disposal well can be operated safely. This to the extent that all monitoring programs are properly conducted, and that all operations are in compliance with all regulatory requirements," Daniels said.

The geologist noted that the well is completed with a long string of seven-inch diameter casing (large pipe, usually steel), which is completely encased in a sheath of cement from its base depth of 4,013 feet below ground level to the ground surface. Two other casing strings are outside of this inner-most string to ensure well bore integrity and protect all underground sources of drinking water.

Daniels noted in his report that in the area near the well, aquifers for domestic use appear to be limited to the glacial drift, which is reported as

"brackish and unsuitable for human consumption."

Based on the information reviewed by Daniels, it is the consulting geologist's opinion that, from a scientific/geological perspective the EDS 1-20 well is in a good location because:

- The proposed injection interval has good porosity, permeability and thickness, thereby allowing the storage of significant amounts of waste;
- Effective geological seals and arrestment intervals are present to prevent any serious threat to human health and the environment from the injection of hazardous wastes, and
- Studies to date have revealed no faults, significant fracture systems or other major structural features that could serve to compromise the integrity of the injection, arrestment or confining/sealing intervals.

"From a design perspective, the EDS 1-20 can be operated in a fashion that will not compromise human health and safety and the protection of the environment. Prior to operation, appropriate monitoring and fail-safe equipment should be installed. This would include construction of a monitoring well to be completed in the first/primary arrestment interval," Daniels' report stated.

"From the perspective of protecting the water table aquifer, which represents the only underground source of drinking water in the area, the EDS 1-20 can be operated safely. However, surface facilities should include storage tanks with sufficient secondary containment and other appropriate engineering controls," the report continued.

"In regard to the threat posed to the underground source of drinking water from surface spill, pertinent concerns can be accommodated via appropriate engineering controls and the strict adherence to proper operating protocols and procedures," Daniels' said in the report.

Daniels noted that the USEPA maintains that hazardous waste injection wells are the highest priority in the Underground Injection Control program and will be allocated such resources required for adequate regulation.

Specifically, Daniels said, it was emphasized that the EDS 1-20 disposal well will not receive an authorization to inject until it is demonstrated to the USEPA that operation of the well will not negatively impact human health and environment.

The consulting geologist said, "An old cliché says that 'to be forewarned is to be forearmed.'" Therefore, he believes that installation of a monitoring/observation well in the first zone is necessary as an "early warning system."

He quoted the report of another geologist who suggested a potential monitoring zone "could include the uppermost Franconia Formation or a permeable zone within the Trenton-Black River Formations."

Some professional geologists are of the opinion that the existence of such a well might represent the single most like, and closest, zone of weakness for fluid escape. However, Daniels believes the advantages of a monitoring well far outweigh any disadvantages.

Daniels study included the geology of the proposed site.

Questions posed on well safety

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

After listening to all the partisan arguments, we still weren't sure whether the injection well proposed for Romulus would be a blessing or a curse.

Since toxic and flammable waste would be disposed of in the well, safety jumped to the forefront as the most disputed issue. Proponents say it's secure. Opponents fear the worst.

To get an unbiased answer, the Romulus Roman called in a professional.

"We took the question to several experts," said Mike Wilcox, Michigan Community News' publisher. "It took a long time to find somebody we felt comfortable hiring to provide an independent evaluation. Someone who doesn't have a vested interest in the outcome."

The newspaper publisher hired Paul Daniels, Jr., a registered professional geologist, who reviewed geologic and engineering data and other information appearing in Michigan Department of Environmental Quality and Western Michigan University's Michigan Basin Core Research Laboratory's files.

His basic findings were that the well was in a good location; it can be operated safely; it will not harm drinking water; and surface spills can be cleaned up.

To find out why, we interviewed him.

What qualifies you to be our expert?

Daniels said, "I'm a professional geologist. I have masters degrees in geology and hydrogeology, with post-master degrees in other environmental sciences. I have had many years experience in the analysis of surface and subsurface soils, rocks and fluid systems."

"I've had experience with injection wells in the petroleum industry and as a regional geologist for the former Michigan Department of Natural Resources, where we administered injection wells under the Mineral Wells Act."

"I also have a fair amount of experience in teaching environmental regulation and mitigating technology."

What was your main point?

"In my opinion, as a practice, deep well injection properly is a viable disposal technique for many hazardous wastes. Relative to some other methods, it's superior. I'd much rather have something that could cause harm one to two miles below and behind rocks than on the surface, where it may leak onto the ground or leach into the groundwater. Or, if you have an incinerator, into the air," he said.

How deep is the proposed well?

"Three-quarters miles," said Daniels.

Would it be good to operate in Romulus?

"I wasn't given that question. But I do think this well is safe and could potentially be a viable economic entity if it adds to the city's tax base. It doesn't particularly pose any threats that cannot be mitigated," Daniels replied.

What threats?

"I know that people are worried about fluids escaping back up to the surface. While this and other problems have happened in the distant past because of poor signage or weak regulations, all can be overcome under new EPA regulations and enforcement procedures. There have been no instances of anything coming back to bother anybody for years since the regulations have been tightened up," he noted.

"Wells like this are regulated by the state under the USEPA. The regulations are codified under the Safe Drinking Water Act's underground injection well section."

How will the regulations be enforced?

"The sampling and laboratory work will be paid for and sent to a EPA-certified lab," replied Daniels.

If the sample's chain of possession begins with the well operators, who are the subject of the monitoring, how trustworthy can the sample be?

Daniels replied, "Nothing is foolproof where humans are involved. I think it's a good reasonable, method. I'm not going to worry about dishonest people. I trust the gathering of the sample because the DNR will go out and get the sample. According to their internal correspondence, they want sampling ports where they can collect samples.

"My experience tells me that it all comes down to the work load of the local regulators. There are scheduled and unscheduled samplings. State employees will also show up in the middle of the night to collect - but I'd rather not give examples," he said.

Wouldn't it be safer not to have the well?

"That's a philosophical question: what are they trying to do? I bet most Romulus residents are enjoying high-tech life styles. It's hypocritical not to face up to the disposal of the wastes. They come to meetings to complain by driving cars. Half the things they own are made of plastic generated by manufacturing processes that produces this waste. How did we get what we have? Most of these manufacturing processes are not biodegradable. We generate the wastes. The responsibility is on us when the things are manufactured for our benefit," Daniels said.

How safe is the transportation of waste to Romulus?

"I'm not an expert on that. It comes under the Michigan Department of Transportation. MDOT and, to a certain extent, the Interstate Commerce Commission requires placards—diamond shaped signs with codes and symbols that state what's being transported and what the hazards are," Daniels said. "Also, the trucks are also restricted to certain routes. And emergency response teams are notified of the delivery schedules and of the cargo."

Mammography can dramatically reduce cancer death rates in women over 50.

Each year, 43,000 women die of breast cancer, making it the second leading cause of cancer death among women. At Health Alliance Plan, we're working hard to change this disturbing statistic.

Prevention — the best medicine.

At HAP, we're helping to lower our members' risks by encouraging mammography — one of the most effective means of early detection. In fact, the breast cancer screening rate of HAP members already exceeds the goal set by the U.S. Public Health Service for the year 2000.

Keeping you healthy.

As part of our extensive preventive medicine programs, we also cover immunizations, cholesterol screenings, office visits, routine eye exams and nutrition programs that can help you control your weight.

Join HAP today. With over 3,000 doctors and over 60 hospitals and medical offices, we offer more choices that help make you and your family feel good.

Book changes worlds view on life

In honor of the Women's National Book Association's 75th anniversary members from across the country were asked to select a book that had most impacted their lives. Renowned author Mary Baker Eddy was selected for her work titled Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures.

Since Science and Health's first publication in 1875, Eddy has been noted as a pioneer in the field of spiritual thinking, healing and addressing vital subjects including marriage, government, family, education, health and healing.

The book and its various topics will be the subject of a discussion hosted by Robert Holcomb of Concord, Mass. at 2:00 p.m. Oct. 28. The lecture will take place at the B. Dalton Book Store located in the Westland Shopping Center, located at the corner of Wayne and Warren Roads in Westland.

Omnicom rebuilds channel lineup

Omnicom Cable's Plymouth, Canton and Northville area customers will be receiving a new array of channel options beginning later this month as a result of an ongoing fiber optic rebuild project.

Channels that will be added to the satellite tier include ESPN2, The History Channel, The Travel Channel, Court TV, Cartoon Network, Home and Garden Television, E! Entertainment Television, Bravo, Country Music Television, TV Food Network, F/X, Trinity Broadcasting Network and the Golf Channel. These channels will be added to the satellite tier at no extra cost.

"Omnicom is working hard to provide its subscribers with some of the best services available," said Omnicom's Programming and Community Affairs Manager Maria Holmes. "As a result of our technological improvements, we were able to build a new offering of channels that will appeal to all of our customers' tastes. There's something new for everyone."

New premium channels include HBO2 and HBO3, which will be given to HBO subscribers who have an addressable converter box at no additional charge. Other options are Encore, featuring hit movies of the 60s, 70s and 80s; STARZ, featuring movies hits as well as quality selections from the past four decades, and FxM, featuring movies straight from the studios that make them.

Residents urged to change battery

Wayne fire officials are reminding area residents to turn the clock back and change the batteries on the smoke detectors Oct. 29.

"So many people forget to change the batteries on their smoke detectors, and it's crucial to keep them running at all times," said Wayne Fire Capt. Joe Kadlec. "They should have a smoke detector on every floor, especially where the sleeping areas are located."

Recently fire departments throughout the Western Wayne County area honored "Fire Prevention Week" by visiting area schools and educating students about the necessities of fire safety.

This year's Wayne program was put together by firefighters Rich Berger and Ken Chapman.

Safety tips offered for area trick-or-treaters, parents

Before your little goblins and ghosts begin gathering Halloween treats, be sure to give them tips for a safe holiday.

A plastic goody bag containing tips for a safe holiday can be obtained at local Detroit Edison offices beginning this week.

The bright orange plastic bags come accompanied with fliers listing safety tips, holiday celebration ideas and tasty recipes.

“We urge parents to discuss the safety tips with their children before they make their trick-or-treat rounds,” said James B. Taylor, director of the utility's security department.

“Kids, in their enthusiasm for the holiday, can get a little carried away, but these tips will remind them to be careful so they can enjoy many Halloweens to come.”

Suggestions include:

- Wear light, reflective colors so children can be seen when it's dark.
- Wear non-flammable costumes and make sure mask holes are large enough for wearers to see through easily.
- Travel in groups accompanied by at least one adult.
- Approach only well-lit houses in familiar areas.
- Use a flashlight or a light stick on your rounds.
- Walk only on sidewalks and be careful when crossing streets.
- Cross streets only at corners.

Many special Halloween events are scheduled throughout the area, including the following:

- Don't eat anything until a parent checks it. Many communities will check the contents of children's bags by X-ray.

Contact local police departments for the location of inspection sites.

Homeowners also should turn on their porch lights to brighten the way for costumed characters, and motorists should be on the lookout for fast-moving children, particularly on residential streets.

Lifelong Wayne resident applauded for outstanding commitment to community

His dedication and commitment to the City of Wayne is endless, and recently council members applauded Dale A. Butler by approving a resolution acknowledging his efforts.

A lifelong resident of Wayne, Butler's many activities within the community include: local businessman; Wayne-Westland School District teacher; long-time member of the Wayne-Westland YMCA board of directors; and long-time member of the Wayne Rotary Club.

"Dale Butler's many outstanding contributions over several decades have made the City of Wayne a better place to live," the resolution stated.

Butler was appointed to the Planning Commission in 1966, elected the chairman in 1967 and was then elected to the city council in 1968.

He served on the city council until November 1973, the last three years as mayor pro tem.

After serving on the city council, Butler returned to the Planning Commission and has recently completed 20 years of distinguished service as the chairman.

"He was the only person on the City Charter Review Committee to have also served on the original Charter Commission," the resolution stated.

Senior class brings in $200 for high school bottle fund project

Editor's note: This story was provided by Wayne Memorial High School senate vice president Matt Randazzo.

In an attempt to gather money, the Wayne Memorial High School senior class sponsored a bottle drive in parts of Wayne.

At 10 a.m. Oct. 14, a group of seniors all gathered in order to start the bottle drive.

The project itself was quite simple, nothing more than a group of people on the street, going door to door in order to pick up bottles.

Some houses gave four or five bottles, while other houses gave between 30 and 50.

After all the bottles were collected, they had to be sorted before they could be brought back to the store.

All in all, even though the seniors experienced cold weather mixed with rain, the day turned out to be quite a success for the class of 1996.

In the end, after all the hard work, the class of 1996 turned in approximately $200. Not bad for an afternoon of work.

The class of 1996 would like to thank the following people for their help with the bottle drive: Lisa Thompson, Lisa Hamilton, Jenny Bailey, Jessica Wood, Nick Nyschick, Tim Galinis, Matt Randazzo, Julie Thomas and family, and especially the Wayne residents who helped make the bottle drive a success.

Baking event Christmas cookie contest launched Nov. 20

One of the most memorable parts of "Christmas Past" is the special baked treats made by mothers, grandmothers and aunts -- star-shaped cookies; rich, chocolate-frosted brownies, ever-popular chocolate chip treats, miniature fruit-filled tarts and a variety of recipes brought from the Old Country.

The holiday baking season is just around the corner, and it's time for good cooks and bakers to bring out their favorite recipes for Thanksgiving and Christmas get-togethers.

This year, Michigan Community Newspapers is sponsoring a Christmas Cookie contest during the week of Nov. 20, just before the Thanksgiving holidays.

We are inviting bakers from our six communities to submit a recipe for their favorite holiday cookies, along with a sample (approximately a dozen) for the judging. Our panel of cookie gourmets will evaluate the recipes, sample the entries and award three prizes to the winners.

The first prize will be $100 worth of cook ware and baking accessories and dinner for two. Second- and third-prize winners will each receive dinner for two.

Clearly label the cookies (attach a tag or paper) with your name, address and phone number and the name of the cookies. Also, secure the recipe to the cookie container with tape or staples.

Those who submit entries may bring them to the Wayne office, 34450 Michigan Ave., west of Wayne Road, or to the Belleville office, 397 Main Street, corner of Fourth, during regular business hours, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. between Nov. 20 and Nov. 22 or between 8:30 a.m. and noon on Nov. 24.

The final judging will be done on Nov. 24 and winners will be notified and prizes awarded. The winners will be photographed with their winning entries and the recipes will be published by Michigan Community Newspapers.

Questions about the contest may be directed to Joan Dyer-Zinner or Margo Dewey at 729-4000 during regular business hours.

Nostalgia

Tales of Teams relates old farm horse tales of heroics, mirth

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

Tales of Teams is the kind of book you can read aloud to your youngsters or grandchildren or, perhaps, present to them as a holiday gift.

The book, subtitled, "Hard-working Memories of Hard-working Horses and Mules," brings back memories of stories told to us as children by our grandparents and other senior members of our households.

If you weren't fortunate enough to have story telling relatives to relate tales of farming in the first half of the century, then this book can provide some delightful insights into days gone by -- a simpler, gentler time.

It's an entertaining bit of nostalgia about the days when horses and mules provided the power for farming, and offers a series of anecdotes about the animals who not only worked the fields, but also worked their way into the hearts of the farm families.

One of the stories is about a Dundee, Mich. family whose horse, Nell, saved the life of its work mate, Tricksey, who had tumbled down a creek bank and was wedged against a tree, unable to get up. Nell went to the barn, whinnied and raced toward her fallen partner until she attracted the owner's attention.

Curtis Bowers and his brother, Dick, followed the mare and subsequently freed Tricksey.

The book contains heroic stories about a team who brought a doctor through a storm to deliver a baby to a farm family, and the tale of a Belgian mare who carried a 7-year-old girl safely home through a North Dakota blizzard and died after returning to her stall in the barn.

While some of the stories are designed to bring a tear to the eye, others prompt a chuckle or two.

A story, titled, "Mule's Craving Cost Grandpa," related the story of a Texas family whose mule, Kate, would open the barn gate and trot into town in the early morning hours just as the baker delivered bread to the local store. She would eat several loaves of the fresh bread before returning home. After the store owner found out who the bread thief was, Kate's owner sold her.

About six months later, the Texas man bought another mule to replace Kate from a dealer who came through town. After a short time, the grocer again began to complain about someone stealing his bread and the Texas man took another look at his "replacement" mule. To his surprise, he discovered that he had bought Kate back, and for more money than he had sold her.

The stories were contributed by readers of Farm and Ranch Living magazine, one of nine national magazines published by Reiman Publications. The book can be ordered by sending $17.99, plus $2.50 for shipping and insured delivery, to Country Books, Suite 3606, 5925 Country Lane, Greendale, Wis. 53129, or credit card holders may call 1-800-558-1013 and request item 20105.

Fall walk events set in area parks

As ingenuity is the mother of all necessity, the Wayne County Parks System has come up with a way to enjoy fall colors and to exercise at the same time. The Parks will host its annual Walk Michigan progts, through Dec. 14.

Walk Michigan is one of Wayne County Parks' most popular programs. The 17-1/2-mile long Middle Rouge Parkway, located on Hines Drive, is a beautiful park system that gives the impression that you have escaped into the country.

"It's a place where everything brightens up," said Edward H. McNamara, Wayne County executive. "Hines Park is the perfect spot for relaxation. Literally, an escape from all the bustle of every day life. And Walk Michigan affords people the opportunity to revel in the outdoors, especially during the fall season."

Walk Michigan is a year-round fitness program sponsored by the Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, Blue Care Network and Michigan Recreation and Park Association. It promotes good health and highlights many recreation areas around Michigan.

Instructions

Associated Newspapers invite you to have fun meeting these singles who are also looking for that "Perfect Match". It's as simple as this:

1. To respond to an ad

By Phone: Call to meet them now. First, find one or more singles on these pages that you'd like to have fun meeting. Call 1-900-884-4777 ($1.99 per minute). By using our unique "QuickConnect" system, our operators can call up whomever you'd like to talk with, let them hear your recording, and if that person is home, the two of you could be having fun planning your first date together tonight. Or, you can leave them messages in their Voicemail boxes and let them call you back. The only charge for our service is $1.99 per minute billed to your monthly phone bill, and, of course, you must be 18 or older to call.

By Mail: Place each response in a STAMPED envelope with the code number marked

CLEARLY on the front. Put your response in a larger envelope, along with $5.00 per response and mail to:

Regal Eagles
1001 W. Mitchell St. Suite 101
Arlington, TX 76013

2. To get your FREE voicemail box

Simply call 1-800-ROMANCE Ext 1001. Our operators will quickly assist you in making your own FREE voice recording and assign you a personal recording number so that you can meet other singles.

3. To place your ad

Simply call 1-800-ROMANCE (1-800-766-2623) Ext 1001. Our operators will help you compose an ad, and we'll be happy to include it in the next available issue.

4. Retrieve your own VoiceMail messages by calling 1-900-884-4777 ($1.99 per min.), 24 hours a day, 7 days per week.

You can leave voicemail messages and pick up your voicemail messages 24 hours a day. You can use our unique "QuickConnect" system from 9AM-10PM Monday-Saturday, and Noon to 10PM on Sundays. Have fun finding your "Perfect Match"! For more information, call Singles Telephone Company at 1-800-ROMANCE Ext 1001.

Auto Dealer Has Money To Loan to High Risk Customers!

Bad credit, no credit, 1st time buyer, even bankrupt, no problem say's credit specialist of the Auto Finance Center in Ypsilanti. In fact, if the customer brings in the required documents (driver license, social security card and most recent check stubs) the staff at the Auto Finance Center can have them on the road in their new car or truck in less than one hour.

The Auto Finance Center offers both a credit establishment program geared to the 1st time or entry buyer who may have previously been turned down at other dealers or approved only with a co-signer. Also offered are re-establishment programs for those people rejected by previous bad credit or bankruptcy. We also have financing for self employed, retirees and SSI. Service contracts are also available.

Those people who are tired of hearing NO. Call Lisa at (313) 482-1222 and hear a YES!!

Bike racing is rugged fun

By HEATHER NEEDHAM
MCN Staff Writer

For people who couldn't stop with merely learning to ride a two-wheel bike, mountain bike racing might be the answer.

For mountain bikers, bicycling is a way of life, taking riders to rugged off-road biking paths all over the state to compete, and riding up to 120 miles per week, most of them off-road. Off-road cycling is much more challenging than paved road riding, according to Dave Massey, manager of Easy Rider Bike Shop in Canton.

"It takes a lot of hard work, dedication and hours on the bike," said Massey. He rides in off-road races, and has placed 13th in the Expert category. Several different categories ranging from beginning to expert are available for riders. Categories are also divided into age groups.

Some favorite riding places for off-road bikers are Maybury State Park in Northville, and a state recreation area near Pinckney. In both parks, non-paved bike paths are available for racers to practice their crafts.

While some cyclists might see wearing a helmet as a choice, for off-road mountain cyclers, helmets are a mandatory part of the uniform.

"Helmets are mandatory in U.S. racing," Massey said. "Everyone should wear a helmet, but they don't."

A recent tragedy in the Tour De France occurred when one of the cyclists did not wear a helmet. After traveling at high rates of speed, he wiped out going around a curve, fell on the pavement, and cracked his skull open.

Michigan is a state where its people really take advantage of the seasons. Despite its short summer, Michigan had more off-road bicycle races than any other state in 1995, Massey said. Michigan also ranks second in bicycle sales nationally.

"Michigan is a big state for (mountain biking)," Massey said. "There are 200-400 people at every race."

So what do off-road bikers do in the off-season, when the roads are covered with snow and ice? The answer is "ride rollers," metal platforms with rollers designed to accommodate regular bikes. They have adjustable tension for moderate to rigorous workouts. Bikers still attempt to travel outside in the winter as much as possible, Massey said.

Youth reports on Swedish school

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

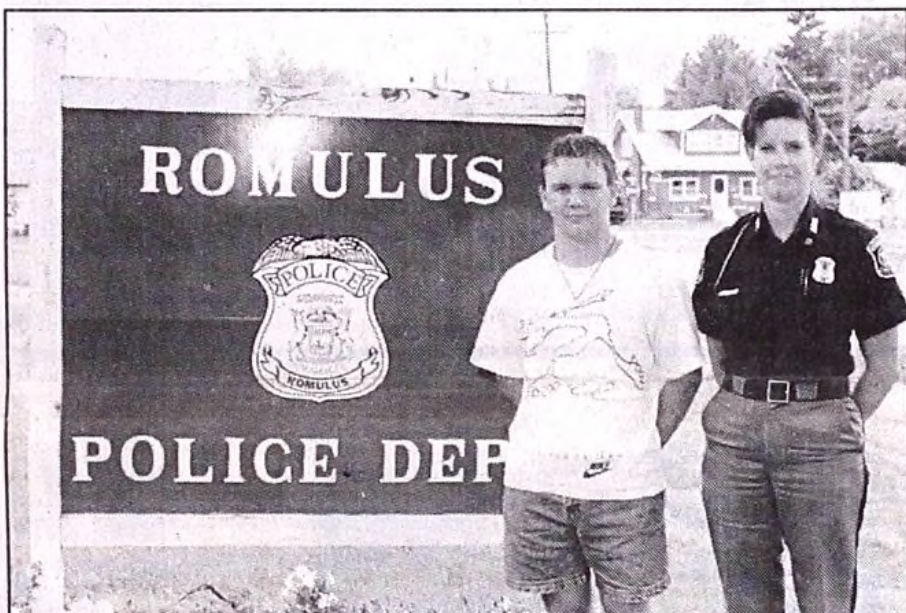

Young Romulus teenager Paul Olney, who was financially aided by Romulus Roman newspaper readers to attend schools in Sweden this year, has revealed from his temporary home just outside Stockholm that he recently was felled by a bout of tonsillitis.

Olney, who was heavily aided in his financial effort by former Romulus Youth Officer Rosemary Cooper, wrote, "They don't believe in removing tonsils in Sweden."

He then joked, "How good can it get. I came 8,000 miles to get sick."

Before leaving Romulus this summer, Olney promised to write periodically to Cooper, who would share parts of his letter with the public.

The 17-year-old former Romulus High School football player said in his letter that

Parent-Teen Day to be staged

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The first annual Parent-Teen Day for all Romulus Middle School families will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Nov. 4.

Assistant Middle School Principal Ed Clark revealed the registration deadline for the free program is Oct. 27.

Clark said the agenda for the Parent-Teen Day will include a main speaker, two parent sessions, a teen session and dance party. Prizes will be distributed that day.

Sponsors of the program will be the Mayor's Drug Task Force, the Community Commission on Drug Abuse Prevention, the Romulus Community Schools, the city's Recreation Department and administrators and parents at the Middle School.

"This is an opportunity for Romulus parents to become better informed about how to relate to their teens and to assist them with difficult issues that face teens," said Jacques Martin-Downs, CCODA prevention coordinator.

Marti Lind, another substance abuse prevention expert, will share her thoughts on how to keep teens from falling into substance abuse problem areas.

Adult sessions will be offered on topics such as: Parents are Teachers too, Responsibilities of Parents and Kids, Five Steps to a Moral Child, Our Kids and Substances and Three Keys to a Better Relationship with your

80 Romulus students share school honors

A total of 80 students from Romulus High School and Romulus Middle School were recognized as "Student of the Month" for September.

On Oct. 11, the students and their parents were invited to a brief ceremony honoring them. These students were selected by their respective teacher for excellent behaviorally and academically for the month of September.

The students attending received a certificate of achievement and, thanks to local sponsors, a $50 U.S. savings bond. The program with the cooperation of local sponsors, instills positive and high expectations in our students, Middle School principal Daniel Hurst said.

The Romulus Community Schools congratulate the following students for their past month's achievements: Mubenna Ahmad, Jamal Bailey (athlete), Richard Baldwin,

Holly Banks, Tomeka Boles, David Bottenhorn, Randy Bower, Tiffany Brazill, Jennifer Breeding, Renee Byard, Sharice Cater, Michael Cassidy, Monique Chadwick, Carrie Chandler, Larry Cochran, Erin Conway, Jamil Davis, Jason Davis, Autumn Debus, Nathan Devine, Jennifer DeWitt, John Dimaggio, Lloyd Ellis, Jaclyn Evans, Robert Flournoy, Tamara Garcia, Benjamin Gardner, Shenee Garner, Akida Gill, Mellisa Gondek, Robert Grace, Susan Haener, Heather Hall, William Hall, Jennifer Harper, Stephen Harper, Michael Hatfield, Erin Hotchkiss, Warren Howard, James Jackson, Jay Jakeway, Christina Johnson, Heather Johnson, Mollie Jones, Kimilitria Jordan, Timothy Kearns, Mamie Kesner, Tara Marogi, Danielle Mitchell, April Morones, Cody Nickens, Devron Pankey, Rachael Parker, Shawna Pattenau, Ken-

Growth Works gives options

The Youth Assistance Program (YAP) is a community based diversion program which was first aimed at first-time juvenile offenders living in the Plymouth, Plymouth Township, and Canton Township communities, is now also serving Belleville and Romulus.

The program is provided in cooperation with the police departments of the three communities and the Wayne County Juvenile Court. Under Michigan Public Act 13, first-time juvenile offenders may be diverted, at the court's discretion, in lieu of entering the formal court system.

For 25 years, Growth Works' intervention program has been serving the Plymouth-Canton area. For about two years, the program has served people in Romulus and Belleville.

behavior thus minimizing the first time offenders entering into the formal juvenile justice system.

For 16 weeks, youths are required to participate in two weekly, hour-long sessions. For one hour, the youth will meet with a volunteer mentor.

The second hour is spent participating in a peer group session.

Program services are developed to focus upon helping the adolescents with: changing negative behaviors, positive decision making, minimizing parent-child conflict peer relationships and life skills.

Grant helps city hire full-time officer

As of Sept. 5, the Bellelille police department had one more full-time officer. Police officer James Rahn has been a part-time officer with the department. Rahn's promotion to full-time was made possible by the Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) Grant awarded to Bellelille at the end of July. Officer Rahn's wages will be supplemented by the Federal government for a period of three years.

Local man earns recognition

When Leona Van Buhler, former executive director of the Bellelille Area Chamber of Commerce, picked up a current issue of Craine's Detroit Business, she was pleasantly suprised to see her son featured in an article about 40 outstanding business people under the age of 40.

Gary Van Buhler, the 39-year-old son of Leona and Ray Van Buhler formerly of Bellelille, and his partner, Gerald Baut, started Advanced Systems Group Inc. of Novi four years ago.

Although Leona Van Buhler received numerous award during her term of office in Bellelille, she was more thrilled to see her son's accomplishments recognized than she had been when receiving her own.

Today, the company founded by Gary has 23 employees and expects sales of more than $7 million this year.

Van Buhler graduated from Eastern Michigan University in 1979 with a degree in industrial technology. While still in college, he and one of his professors started a software company, Com-Code Associates in Ann Arbor, which lasted three years, according to the article.

Gary Van Buhler worked for the local divisions of two outstate computer-systems companies before helping open the Sun Microsystems Computer Corp. office in Troy as district systems-engineering manager.

For six-and-a-half years, Van Buhler recruited, trained and managed other companies, before he and his partner decided to penetrate the commercial market themselves.

Within six months after they began using space in a friend's office in exchange for managing the internal system of the friend's company, and they soon outgrew the space.

They since have moved twice and are negotiating a lease in Farmington Hills that will double their current, 3,500-square-foot facility.

Advanced Systems provides a paperless environment through document management, document imaging and custom-database applications.

From $900,000 in sales its first year, Advanced Systems grew to $2 million its second year, $2.9 million in 1993 and $4.6 million last year.

In 1994, the company was named as one of Southeast Michigan's "Future 50" companies.

Baby starts life at less than pound

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Tiny 18 ounce baby Hannah Nicole Kadau hopes to be home in Romulus for Christmas.

Hannah was born on Sept. 29, 1995 at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, tipping the scales at 15 1/2 ounces.

Her parents, Roger and Paula Kadau, "are wearing a groove in I-94" as they travel back and forth daily to visit their precious new family member to ensure Hannah they truly love her deeply.

"She is attached to every neo-natal machine you can possibly think of," Kadau said last Saturday, "including a breathing tube, feeding tube, heart monitor, skin temperature monitor and even one to check the oxygen level in her blood among others."

The first 72 hours after her birth obviously were the most crucial, Kadau related, and now doctors say she should be to the point where she will be gaining one ounce a day.

The Kadaus have been married a dozen years and have long been praying for a child.

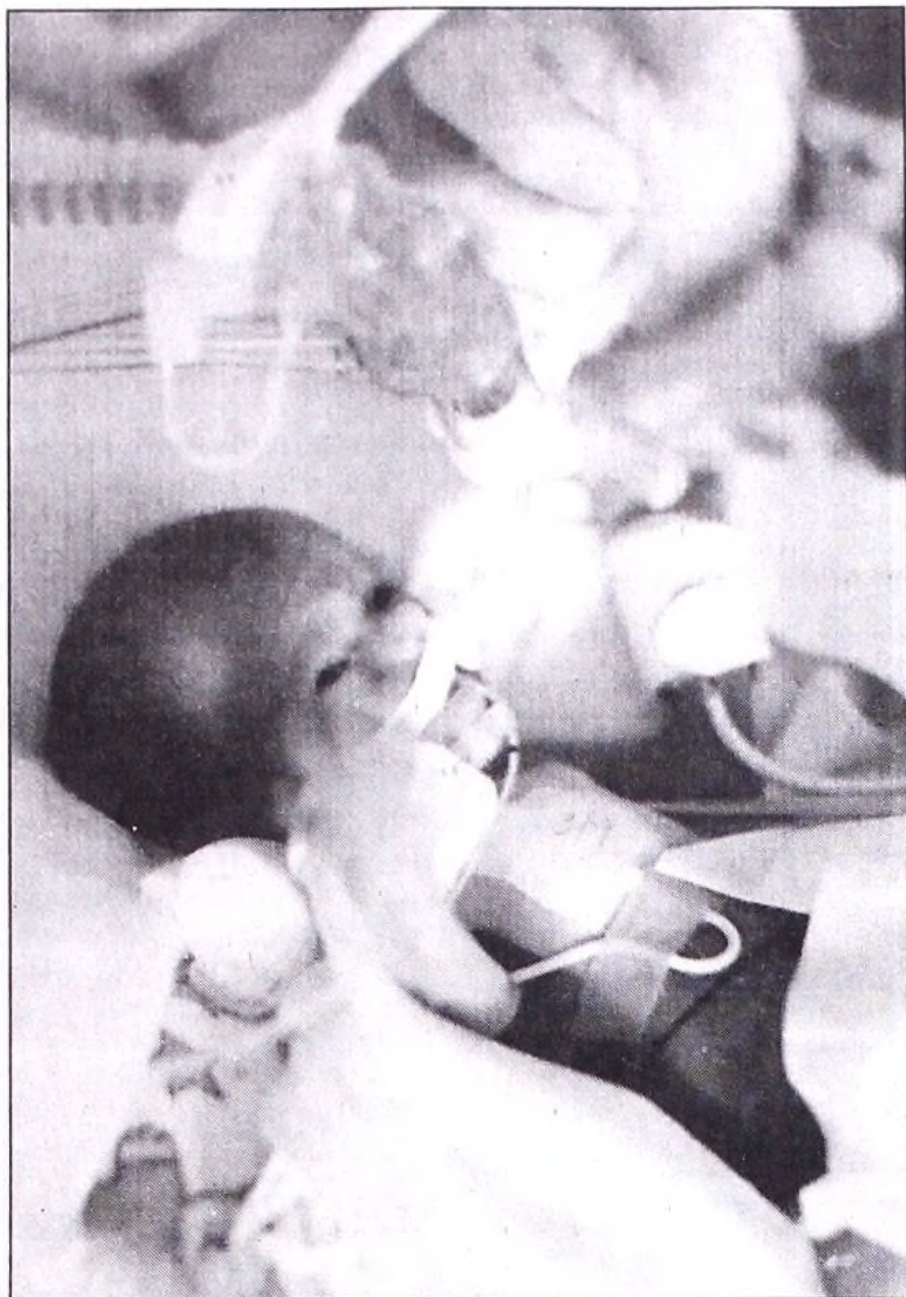

Thus great concern was evident, when doctors decided to bring Hannah into this world via a C-section on Sept. 29, after it was discovered she was not getting enough liquid nourishment in the womb, Kadau said.

Hannah's mother was in the 28th week of her pregnancy, when the Caesarian section took place.

"Since her arrival," Kadau says proudly, "she has been prayed for by pastors, priests, rabbis and Christian laity of all types."

Kadau credits this on-going prayer cycle for the tremendous progress his infant daughter is making.

"From the moment the decision was made to perform the C-section because of the low fluid level, miracles have been happening," the devoted father declared.

We knew she was going to be small, but wow what a surprise it was when she was born at 15-1/2 ounces, Kadau exclaimed.

"We were glad she was a girl when we found that girls are stronger than boys in this condition," Kadau continued.

Despite the excessive medical costs, Kadau said, Michigan insurance funds are covering the ever growing medical bills, so that is one worry that does not concern them.

Hannah's mother cannot wait until she can hold her daughter in her arm's for the first time.

And most of all she can't wait until young Hannah comes home to Romulus for the Christmas holidays. It definitely will be a Christmas neither of her parents will ever forget.

But in the meantime, both happy and tired parents ask the public "keep us in your prayers."

Map project

First the U.S., then the world at St. Anthony's

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

Did you know that you can now walk to Hawaii?

In fact, you can now walk to any state in the United States, as long as you are in the parking lot of St. Anthony Academy's in Belleville.

The parents' club at the school raised the money to purchase a kit to draw and then paint a map of the U.S. in the parking lot.

A member of the club, Phil Stachlewitz explained the process, "You begin by laying out the stencil from the kit. You make little dots through the stencil with chalk. After you're done, you remove the stencil and play connect the dots with the white boarder paint. Each state gets its own color, and the Great Lakes are light blue."

The whole idea began a few years ago when some members of the club saw the kit in a catalog.

According to Sister Denise Seymour, the club worked together to raise the money, and purchased the kit. "After they bought it, the weather didn't cooperate, and then we had the parking lot resurfaced," the principal said. "We finally got the chance to do it."

Money was raised through rummage sales, a Mardis Gras party and a spring/summer luncheon.

This is not the first item bought for the school by the parents' club. According to Sister Denise, "They bought almost all of the big toys in the playground along with the trees and benches, and they bought ceiling fans for the classrooms."

Seymour said that the third and fourth graders are now learning the states, and they are very excited about the map.

After the U.S. map is completed, the club is planning on purchasing the world map. But, according to Stachlewitz, "We gotta conquer the states first."

Hometown paper has long history

Keep up with the news of the day with the Belleville Enterprise, the hometown newspaper that has been covering local news since 1886.

The Enterprise was publishing:

- two years before Benjamin Harrison was elected president.
- three years before North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington became states and before Oklahoma opened to non-Indian settlement.
- four years before Idaho and Wyoming became states.
- one year before Queen Victoria celebrated her Golden Jubilee.

On the sports scene, the Enterprise was publishing:

- six years before Gentleman Jim Corbett defeated John L. Sullivan to win the heavyweight boxing title.

- two years before the Football League was formed, and Jim Thorpe, one of the greatest all-around athletes of all time, was born.
- the same year as the English Lawn Tennis Association was founded and the Amateur Golf Championship first was played, and the same year baseball player Ty Cobb was born.

Don't miss an edition of the hometown newspaper that has been publishing Belleville news since March of 1886. Call the circulation department at 729-4000 or Diane Ferguson at 697-9191 to order a subscription.

Residents may want to consider a subscription to the Enterprise as a gift for former residents, college students or service personnel.

Family Halloween Party slated at college campus

Don't be scared - it's only the Wayne County Community College's Western Center Family Halloween Party.

From 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Oct. 27, WCCC is offering families the chance to play games, win door prizes, and enter a 50/50 raffle.

Along with all of this, there will be dancing, the best "family" costume contest, a limbo contest, sack racing, pass the pumpkin, and a dancing and singing contest. Food will also be available for all of the hungry ghouls who appear.

Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for children 12 and under. Tickets are available at the door on the night of the party.

WCCC is located at 9555 Haggerty Road, Belleville. For more information, call 699-0200.

Christmas preview

Trinity Episcopal Church readies for holiday

Christmas is coming, and it's only October!

Have no fear, Trinity Episcopal Church is ready to get people in the mood for the holidays.

The Holiday Bazaar will be staged from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 11 at Trinity Episcopal Church on Belleville Road, between Interstate-94 and the new Belleville Road bridge over Belleville Lake.

"We will have three different types of booths and a luncheon served throughout the day," said Gloria Gardner.

An Arts and Crafts booth will feature such items as decorated miniature Christmas trees, grapevine wreaths, raffia angels, Christmas ornaments, needlework and more, she said.

"A Good as Gold gift booth featuring nearly new treasures, old costume jewelry, potpourri burners, bizaare but interesting things for someone on your gift list," Gardner said.

"A third booth will be dedicated to food - baked goods to be exact. The Bake Sale Booth will offer chocolate covered pretzels, chocolate chip, decorated sugar, and an assortment of other cookies, pies, cakes and fancy quick breads.

"If you're not quite up for a sugar rush, an indoor cafe will be selling a luncheon of hearty homemade soup and hot dogs with a choice of coffee or milk," said Gardner.

We will have three different types of booths and a luncheon served throughout the day.

Historic move

Museum may relocate to town hall

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

Van Buren's old town hall is being renovated to take the building back to its original state.

What to do with the building, once the renovations are complete, is still up in the air.

One idea would put a piece of history in the historical building. The idea behind this is to move the Belleville Area Museum from its current location, Quirk School, to the old town hall.

The school is home to scaled-down replicas of 11 turn-of-the-century buildings from Belleville, Van Buren and Sumpter.

The historical buildings featured at the museum are:

- Wabash Depot, which was built in the early 1800s. The first train came through Belleville in 1881. After a fire in the early 1960's, the depot was razed. The "Belleville" sign from the east end of the building was saved, and is currently displayed on the replica of the depot.

- Van Buren Township Hall

and Grange was built in 1875 and has served through the years as a library, police station, and jail. It once housed the offices of The Enterprise, Belleville Chamber of Commerce and Adventure Travel. The second floor of the building was paid for by the Grange Society and used as a meeting hall.

- Denton Methodist Church was built in 1869 on two lots purchased for $100. The Methodist Society was organized in 1840, and the first church built in 1850.

- The Dressmaker shop is typical of the combination shop and residence of the era. In 1881, there were two dressmakers and a milliner in the area.

- Pullen Furniture Store was operated by J.C. Pullen, who also operated an undertaking establishment on Main Street near High Street prior to 1913.

- Beebe's General Store, owned by Everett Beebe, was located in Sumpter Township and is an example of the national style of architecture.

- Sumpter School, a one-room schoolhouse, featured separate doors for boys and girls to enter and exit separately.

- Dr. Forbes' office and home, built in the early 1850's by John Forbes, it was located at 368 Liberty St. For many years his son, Dr. Elias Forbes, lived and practiced medicine there.

- The Arlington Hotel, built prior to 1890, it was renamed the Mandt Hotel in 1901 when purchased by William Mandt. Before it burned in 1981, it served as a meat market, shoe store and carpet shop. Apartments were located on the second floor.

- Campbell Drug Store, located in the old Music Hall, it was operated by Sam Campbell. The drug store was on the left side of the building and A.E. Smith, owner of The Enterprise, occupied the right.

- The Bank of Belleville was organized in 1899 and by 1910, a new brick building was constructed at Main and Fourth. In 1915, the bank was renamed Peoples State Bank, and later was purchased by the National Bank of Detroit, and moved to the present location.

Romulus students mark Homecoming

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Despite a tough Friday the 13th game against visiting Wyandotte High School, the students at Romulus High enjoyed a fun-filled Homecoming 1995 Week.

The grid iron match up was the first since the Eagles entered the Mega League.

The week was climaxed with a festive holiday style parade that including the display of the top two class parade floats created by the Junior and Senior Class members.

The two classes finished in a tie for the float contest.

Earlier the students took part in numerous contests and events such as dress up days (featuring everything from the 50's generation to Halloween costumes).

Other fun times included a "Coke Slam" and a "Twister" contest.

Shortly after 4 p.m. on that Friday, judges turned out to examine the assorted floats and selected the winners, including the tie.

The parade then proceeded through downtown and out the Middle School.

The selection of Homecoming King Ryan Evan and Queen Lucille Williams came later.

Other members of the senior court included Stephanie Clemmons, Shenika Hankerson, Kim Mientkiewicz, Angie Terry, Roy Chambers, Mike McDonald, Radley Manson and Patrick Thompson.

The underclassmen's court included: Joe Lambert and Marie Madison (1997), Wayne Bingham and Charla Siebert (1998) and Alec Hance and Catherine Boslet (1999).

in Sweden, so his expected financial problem has been somewhat alleviated.

He currently lives with a Swedish family, just outside Stockholm, in an area he finds comparable with parts of Montana and the temperatures are now in the 50s.

Most people there travel by bus, Olney said, but he usually uses the subway since it is much cheaper. In addition, driver's licenses are not available until youth reach the age of 18.
